Essay 4. Joseph's beauty, and his father's preference for him

גְּמָרֶא פֶּרֶק קַמָּא דְּתַּעֲנִית אֲמָרָה לֵיה בְּרַתֵּיה דְּקֵיסָר לְרַבִּי יְהוֹשֵׁעַ בֶּן חַנְנְיָה: חָכְמָה מְפוֹאָרָה בִּכְלִי מְכוֹעָר! אֲמֵר לַהּ רַבִּי יְהוֹשֵׁעַ בֶּן חַנְנָיָה: אָבִידּ בְּמַאי רָמֵי חַמְרָא וְכוּ!. וְהָא אִיכָּא דְּשַׁפִּירֵי וְגָמִירִי, אִי [הַוֹּוֹ] סְנוּ, טְפֵי הַוֹוֹ גְּמִירִי.

There is a Gemara in the first chapter of tractate Ta'anit:

The daughter of the Roman emperor said to Rabbi Yehoshua ben Chananya [who was unattractive]: "Glorious wisdom [such as yours], in an ugly vessel." Rabbi Yehoshua ben Chananya said to her: "In what vessels does your father keep his wine?" She said, "In earthen vessels." He said to her: "You, who are so important, [should] put it in vessels of gold and silver." She went and said this to her father. He put the wine in vessels of gold and silver and it turned sour. [The servants] came and told the emperor [that the wine had turned sour], he said to [his daughter]: "Who told you to do this?" She daughter responded: "Rabbi Yehoshua ben Chananya." [The emperor] summoned him and said to him: "Why did you say this to her?" He said to him: "Just as she said to me, so I said say to her" [to demonstrate to her that fine material is best preserved in the least of vessels]. [The emperor said to him:] "But there are handsome people who are learned." [He replied:] "If they'd been ugly [pip] [se'nu], they would have been even more learned."

- Ta'anit 7a-7b

וּפֵירֵשׁ רַשִּׁ"י, אִי הְוֹוֹ סְנוּ: אוֹתָם נָאִים שֶׁהֶם חֲכָמִים. טְפֵי הְווֹ גְּמִירִי: שֻׁאִי אֶפְשָׁר לְנָאָה לְהַשְׁפִּיל דַּעְתּוֹ וּבָא לִידֵי שְׁכְחָה עכ"ל. וְעוֹד פֵּירְשׁוּ הַתּוֹסָפּוֹת שָׁם (בד"ה אִי הְווֹ סְנוּ וְכוּוֹ), פֵּירוּשׁ אִם הָיוּ שׂוֹנְאִים הַיּוֹפִי הָיוֹ חֲכָמִים בְּיוֹתֵר. וְהָרִי"ף הִקְשָׁה עַל פֵּירֵשׁ רַשִּׁ"י וְהִכְרִים פֵּירוּשׁ הַתּוֹסָפּוֹת, וּפֵירֵשׁ שֶׁכּנָּונָתָם הִיא שֶׁאוֹתָם הַנָּאִים כְּיוֹן שֶׁהֵם שׂוֹנְאִים הַיּוֹפִי הְוֹן לְהוּ כְּכָּעוּרִים וְלַכַּךְ מִתְקִיִּימִים בַּהָם דְּבָרֵי תּוֹרָה עכ"ל.

Rashi explains: "'If they'd been ugly [pt] [se'nu]: They are attractive in that they are wise. 'They would have been even more learned': It's impossible for a handsome man to humble himself [to review his studies], and he'll come to be forgetful."

The Tosafists further explained there, as they vocalize odifferently: "'If they'd been haters [sa'nu]: Commentary: If they would hate beauty, they would be even wiser." This is explained by the Rif, who questions the explanation of Rashi and compelled the explanation of the Tosafists. He explained that [the Tosafist's] intention was that since those [learned men] who are handsome hate beauty, they are [in their own eyes] as ugly men. Therefore, they are not proud and arrogant, but are humble and willing to review their studies, and thus the words of the Torah are fulfilled in them.<sup>2</sup>

ְּקְשֶׁה טוּבָא לְפֵּירוּשׁ זֶה דְּאִם כֵּן הָוֵי לֵיהּ לְמֵימֵר מִשׁוּם דְּאִינְהוּ סָנוּ מִשׁוּם הָכִי גְמִירִי, שֶׁבְּזֶה הָיְתָה מְתוֹרֶצֶת קּוּשְׁיָא דְּבְרַתֵּיה דְּקִיסְר בְּמְקוֹמָה עוֹמֶדֶת, דְּאָמְרָה דְּקִיסְר בְּמִימִר אִי הַווֹ סָנוּ וְכוּ' דְּבַּלָּשׁוֹן הַזֶּה קּוּשְׁיָא הָרִאשׁוֹנָה שֶׁל בְּרַתֵּיה דְּקִיסְר בִּמְקוֹמָה עוֹמֶדֶת, דְּאָמְרָה לוֹ חָכְמָה מְפוֹאָרָה בְּכְלִי מְכוֹעָר, וְכַנָּונָתָה הִיא שֶׁרַבִּי יְהוֹשֵׁעַ בֵּן חַנְנְיָה שֶׁהָיָה כֹּל כָּךְ חָכָם לֹא הָיָה לוֹ לִהְיוֹת כָּעוּר, וַעֲדִייִן יְכוֹלְא הָיִתָּה חַכְמָה לֹא נִבְרָא יָפָה, שֶׁהוֹאִיל שֶׁהָיָה לוֹ לְהְיוֹת כֹּל כָּךְ חָכָם בְּוַדֵּאִי שֶׁהָיָה שׁוֹנֵא הַיּוֹפִי וְלֹא הָיְתָה חַכְמָה מְפוֹאֵרָה בְּכִלִי מְכוֹעַר.

This explanation of the Tosafists that no should be pronounced as [pci] [sa'nu], meaning haters, is very difficult, for if so, [Rabbi Yehoshua ben Chananya] should have said, "Because they are haters [of beauty], because of this they are learned." For in this way, the difficulty of the daughter of the emperor would've been solved in a suitable answer. He should not have said, "If they'd been haters [of beauty]," because the word "if" suggests that maybe they didn't hate beauty, and then we still have a case of men who are both handsome and learned.

Also, in that language the first question of the daughter of the emperor stands. For she said to him, "Glorious wisdom [such as yours], in an ugly vessel," and her intention was that Rabbi Yehoshua ben Chananya, who was so wise, should not have been ugly. She would still be able to follow up and ask why he hadn't been created handsome, that since he was so wise, then certainly he would have hated beauty and then he wouldn't have been glorious wisdom in an ugly vessel.

וּמְשׁוּם הָכִי נִרְאֶה לוֹמֵר שֶׁהַתּוֹסָפוֹת לֹא בָּאוּ לַחָלוֹק כְּלֶל עִם רַשִּׁ"י, רַק בָּאוּ לְהוֹסִיף פֵּירוּשׁ עַל פֵּירוּשׁ שֶׁל רַשִּׁ"י, וּמְשׁוּם הָכִי בָּרְבוּ בְּרָחִקֹת דְּבְרֵיהָם תֵּיבַת פֵּירוּשׁ, כְּלוֹמֵר שָׁאַף אַחַר פֵּירוּשׁ רַשְׁי, צְרִיךְ פֵּירוּשׁ עַל לְשׁוֹן דְּ"אִי הְוֹוֹ סְנוּ", וְרוֹצֶה לוֹמֵר אָם הָיוּ שׁוֹנְאִים הַיּוֹפִי וְכוּ', וְהָיִינוּ שְׁמִי שֶׁהוּא יָפֶה לֹא יִשְׂנָא הַיּוֹפִי. וְאַף אֵינוֹ מְחוּיִיב לְשְׁנוֹא הַיּוֹפִי אֶלָּא חוֹבָתוֹ כָּךְ הִיא שְׁנִי שְׁפָּתב רַשִּ"י ז"ל. שְׁתַּהְיָה דְּעְתּוֹ שְׁפֵלָה עָלִיו וְלֹא יִתְפָּאֵר בְּיוֹפִיוֹ כְּלָל, וְזָהוּ כִּמְעֵט בִּלְתִי אָפְשֶׁר שֶׁיַּשְׁפִיל דַּצְתוֹ לְגַמְרֵי כְּמוֹ שֶׁכָּתב רַשִּ"י ז"ל. אָבְל מִי שֶׁהוּא בָּעוּר אִין הָכִי נָמֵי שְׁשׁוֹנֵא הַיּוֹפִי, וָאָם כֵּן כְּשֶׁכָּתְבוּ הַתּוֹסָפוֹת אִם הָיוּ שׁוֹנְאִים הַיּוֹפִי, וְהַשְׁעַ בַּן חַנַנְיָה כְּפָּשְׁטוּ. רַשִּׁיר יְדָּשׁוֹן הַגְּמַרִי לְשׁוֹן הַגְּמַרָא וְהַתִּי שְׁלַ רַבִּי יְהוֹשֵׁעַ בַּן חַנַנְיָה כְּפְּשְׁטוּ.

That's why it seems most likely to say that the additions of the Tosafists didn't come to disagree with Rashi at all. They just came to add a commentary to Rashi's commentary, and that's why they wrote the word "commentary" at the beginning of their words. This is as if to say that after the explanation of Rashi, an explanation is needed as to the Gemara's wording of, "If they'd been ugly," and wants to say, "If they had been haters of beauty, etc.," and we would say that one who is handsome would not hate beauty. He is not obliged to hate beauty, but his duty is to have a low opinion of it, and not to boast of his beauty at all, and this is almost impossible for him to completely lower his opinion of his own beauty, as wrote Rashi of blessed memory. But one who is ugly, it is indeed so that he hates the beauty, and if so, when the Tosafists wrote, "If they'd been haters of beauty," their intents were exactly as the explanation of Rashi, which is that if they were ugly, they would be more learned. Now the language of the Gemara is fine, and the solution of Rabbi Yehoshua ben Chananya is as they have explained.

<sup>1</sup> This is not the earlier and more famous "Rif" [Rabbi Isaac Alfasi (1013-1103)], but rather Rabbi Josiah ben Joseph Pinto (c. 1565–c. 1648), Syrian rabbi and preacher, a disciple of Rabbi Chaim Vital. He wrote Me'or Enayim (Venice, 1643), a commentary on Rabbi Jacob ibn Habib's Ein Yaakov.

ּוּבְזֶה יְבוֹאַר מָה שֶׁכָּתַב רַשִּׁ"י עַל הַפָּסוּק "וְהוּא נַעַר" וְכוּ', שֻׁמְתַקּן בְּעֵינָיו כְּדֵי שֻׁיִּהְיֶה נִרְאֶה יָפֶה. וְקָשֶׁה אֵיךְ אֶפְשָׁר שֶׁיוֹסֵף הַצַּדִיק יִתְעַסֵק בִּדְבָרִים בְּטַלִים הַלָּלוּ שֶׁאָפִילוּ קַל שֶׁבַּקְלִים לֹא יַעֲשֶׁה בֵּן, וְלָכֵן כָּתַב אַחֲרָיו "וְיִשְׂרָאֵל אָהַב אֶת־יוֹסֵף" וְכוּ', אֲרִי בַר חַכִּים הוּא לֵיה. וְאִם הָיָה חָכָם עַל כָּרְחֲךְּ צָרִיךְ לוֹמֵר שֶׁלֹא הָיָה חוֹשֵׁב הַיּוֹפִי, דְּאִי לָאו הָכִי לֹא הָיָה לוֹ לְאָבִיו לֶאֲהוֹב אוֹתוֹ מִבְּנֵי חָכָמְוֹ, לְפִי שֶׁסוֹפָה לְהִשְׁתַּכֵּח, שֻׁאֵינָה מִתְקַיֶּימֶת אֶלָּא בַּפְּחוֹת שֶׁבַּכֵּלִים, כִּדְאָמְרִינַן הָתַם בְּכֶּרָק קַמְּא דְּתַעְנִית. אוֹתוֹ מִבְּנִי חָכְמְתוֹ, לְפִי שֶׁסוֹפָה לְהִשְׁתַּכַּח, שֶׁאֵינָה מִתְקַיֶּימֶת אֶלָּא בַּפְּחוֹת שֶׁבַּכֵּלִים, כִּדְאָמְרִינַן הָתַם בְּכָּרָק קַמְּא דְּתַעֲנִית.

In this way we will understand what Rashi wrote on the verse, "Joseph, being seventeen years old, was feeding the flock with his brethren, being still a lad even with the sons of Bilhah, and with the sons of Zilpah, his father's wives; and Joseph brought evil report of them unto their father." Rashi wrote that, "His actions were childish: he fixed up his hair, he touched up his eyes so that he should appear good-looking."4 It is difficult to understand how it's possible that the righteous Joseph would engage in these idle matters that the commonest of people wouldn't engage in. Therefore it is written afterward, in the next verse, "Now Israel loved Joseph best of all his sons—he was his 'child of old age'—and he made him a coat of many colors." Onkelos translated this into Aramaic: "Israel loved Joseph more than any of his sons, for he was a wise son of his to him, and he made him a long, colorful cloak." Rashi adds, based on Gen. Rabbah 84:8, that Joseph was wise, and that Jacob taught him all that he had learned from the yeshiva of Shem and Eber. If he were wise, you necessarily must say that he didn't think of that beauty, for if not so, his father would not have loved him because of his wisdom, as in the end it would be forgotten, for [the wisdom] lasts only in the least expensive of vessels, as it says there in the first chapter of tractate Ta'anit. Thus, one can be handsome and still be learned, as long as he pays no heed to his beauty and is modest, able to review his learning and thus retain it so that he does not forget it.

Just as these three liquids can be retained only in the least of vessels [e.g., clay pots, but not vessels of silver and gold, as they will spoil], so too, matters of Torah are retained only by one whose spirit is lowly."

אֶלָּא וַדַּאי מוּכְרָחִים אָנוּ לוֹמֵר שֶׁמֵה שֶׁכָּתַב "וְהוּא נַעַר" וְכוּ' כְּדֵי שֶׁיִּהְיֶה נָרְאֶה יָפֶה, אֵינוֹ מוּבָן כִּפְשׁוּטוֹ אֶלָּא כְּמוֹ שֶׁכָּתְבוּ בְּלָא נַדְּאי מוּכְרָחִים אָנוּ לוֹמֵר שֶׁמָה שֶׁכָּתִב "וְהוּא נַעַר" וְכוּ' כְּדִי שֶׁיִּהְיָה וְיְכָּה עַלְבֶּא נִתְנַסָּה, בְּבִי "וַהְשָּׁא אֲשֶׁת־אָדֹנִיו" וְכוּ'. וּמַחְשְׁבוֹתִיו שֶׁל יוֹסֵף לְמַשְׁמֵשׁ בְּעֵינִיו כְּדֵי שֶׁיִּהְיֶה נַרְאֶה יָפֶה לֹא הָיוּ אֵלָי בִּינִ לְהוֹסִיף כֹּחַ בַּעֲבוֹדָתוֹ יִתְבָּרַךְ, שֶׁבָּזְה יוּכַל לְהִיוֹת מַנוּסוֹ וְלַעֲמוֹד בִּנְסִיוֹנוֹ מַחֲמֵת אוֹר תּוֹרָתוֹ הַמְּשַׁמֵּר אוֹתוֹ.

Rather, we must certainly say that what is written, Onkelos's interpretation of "being still a lad" as being in order that he should appear handsome, is not understood as the plain meaning. Rather, it is meant as it is written in Midrash Gen. Rabbah 87:4 on the verse, "Now Joseph was well built and handsome," and adjoining that verse, "his master's wife cast her eyes upon Joseph and said, 'Lie with me.' "The Midrash says that Joseph said, "My father has undergone trials, my grandfather has undergone trials; but I have not undergone trials." Immediately, "his master's wife cast her eyes upon Joseph."

Joseph's thoughts to touch up his eyes in order that he would appear handsome were only to strengthen his service of G-d, may He be blessed. For in that way, he would be able to be tried and to withstand his test because of the light of His Torah, which preserved him.

"וְיִשְׂרָאֵל אָהַב אָת־יוֹסֵף מִכְּל־בָּנָיו" אֲרֵי בַר חַכִּים הוּא לֵיה, שֶׁבֶּהֵיוֹתוֹ חָכָם עַל כְּרְחֵין לוֹמֵר שֶׁהָיְתָה דַּעְתּוֹ שְׁפֵלָה עָלִיו אַף עַל פִּי שֶׁהָיָה יָפֶה, וְאִין הָכִי נָמֵי שֶׁמָצֵד זֶה הָיָה שוֹנֵא הַיּוֹפִי, וְאַף מִצֵּד אַחֵר מַה שֶׁמְתַקּן שְׂעָרוֹ לֹא הָיָה כְּדֵי שֶׁתְּזוּחַ דַּעְתּוֹ עָלִיו אֶלָּא לְכַנִּוֹנָה טוֹבָה.

"Now Israel loved Joseph best of all his sons," for he was a wise son to him, that in being wise, it must be said that he had a low opinion of himself even though he was handsome. It is indeed so that from this side, he hated beauty, and even from another side, the fact that he fixed his hair was not to raise his view of himself, but for a good intention.

עוֹד עַל הַפָּסוּק הַנַ"ל, קַשֶּׁה דְּהַלֹּא כָּל הַשְּׁבָטִים הָיוּ חֲכָמִים? וְלָמָּה דַּוְקָא יוֹסֵף נִקְרָא בֶּן זְקוּנִים דְּהַיְינוּ בַר חַכִּים כְּמוֹ שֶׁתִּרְגֵּם אוּנְקְלוֹס, וְאַף אָם נֹאמֵר בֶּן זְקוּנִים כִּפְשׁוּטוֹ, הָרֵי הָיָה בִּנְיָמִין שֶׁהָיָה יוֹתֵר בֶּן זְקוּנִים. וְעוֹד לָמָה יַעֲלְב שְׁנָּה אֶת בְּנוֹ בֵּין הַבְּנִים וּבְּנָים וּבְּנִים וּבְּעוֹלָם, וְאָר אָם נֹאמֵר לֹא יְשׁנָּה אָדָם אֶת בְּנוֹ וְכוּ', וּמַהוּ לְעוֹלָם, הָיָה לוֹ לוֹמֵר לֹא יְשׁנָּה אָדָם וְכוּ'.

Further on the above verse, it is difficult to understand, for weren't all the tribes wise? Why was Joseph specifically called a son of [Jacob's] old age, which is a wise son as Onkelos translated? Even if we'll say "a son of his old age" according to the plain meaning, there was Benjamin, who was even more a son of his old age. So why was Joseph given that label, instead of Benjamin? Also, why did Jacob distinguish his son, Joseph, among his other sons, for in the first chapter of tractate Shabbat, it is said, "A person should never distinguish his son [from] among [the other] sons [by giving him preferential treatment]." Also, why does the Gemara say "never"? It could have said, "A person should not distinguish" etc.

&lt;sup>8</sup> Gen. 39:6.

ּוְגֵשׁ לוֹמַר דְּאָמְרִינַן בַּמִּדְרָשׁ עַל הַפָּסוּק "אֱלֹהִים מוֹשִׁיב יְחִידִים בַּיְתָה", כֹּל הַנּוֹשֵׂא אִשָּׁה לְשֵׁם שָׁמַיִם וּמֵהוֹגָנֵת לוֹ הקב"ה מוֹצִיא מֵהֶם בָּנִים בַּעֲלֵי הוֹרָאָה. וּכְתַב הַפְּרָשַׁת דְּרָכִים (דַּף ג') שֶׁהַמִּבְחָן לָדַעַת אִם אָדָם נָשָׂא אִשָּׁה הָגוּנָה לוֹ וּלְשֵׁם שָׁמַיִם וָלֹא לִשֵּׁם יוֹפִי וּלְשֵׁם מַמוֹן הֶם הַבַּנִים הַנּוֹלָדִים מֵהָם.

It can be said, as it's said in the Midrash Num. Rabbah 5:6 on the verse, "G-d restores the lonely to their homes," everyone who marries a woman for the sake of Heaven and she is proper for him, the Holy One, Blessed be He, will bring forth from them sons who are masters of instruction. The author of the Parashat Derachim writes (page 3, in the section By the Way of the Scouts, the first essay, at the words "the rising rule"), that the test to know if a man has married a woman suitable for him and for the sake of Heaven, and not for the sake of beauty or for the sake of money, this is to consider the children born from them.

וּכְבָר יָדוּעַ שֶׁהָעוֹלָם יֵשׁ לוֹ עִרְעוּר עַל יַעֲקֹב שֶׁנָּשָׂא שְׁתֵּי אֲחָיוֹת דְּהַיְינוּ שֻׁנָּשָׂא רָחֵל בַּעֲבִירָה, אוֹ דִּילְמָא שֻׁלְקַחָה לְשׁם נוֹי בְּבָרְ יִדוּעַ שֶׁהָעוֹלָם יָשִׁ לוֹ עִרְעוּר עַל יַעֲקֹב שָׁנָשָׂא שְׁתַּי שְׁנַעֲקֹב לִימֵּד תּוֹרָה לְכָל בָּנְיו וְכַלֶּם הִיוּ חֲכָמִים, אֲבָל עַל יוֹסֵף הָיָה מַקְפִּיד יוֹתֵר וּמָסָר לוֹ כֹּל מָה שֶׁלַּמֵּד מִשֵׁם וְעֵבֶר, לְפִי שֶׁבֶּהֵיוֹתוֹ חָכָם אִיגַּלֵּאי מִילְתָא לְמַפְרֵע שֶׁיַעֲקֹב נָשָׂא רָחֵל בְּהֵיתֵר וּלְשֵׁב שְׁמִים, וְלָכֵן הָיָה אֲהָבוֹ מִכֶּל בָּנָיו בִּשְׁבִיל שֶׁבַר חַכִּים הוּא לֵיה, וְהַחָּכמָה שֶׁל יוֹסֵף מוֹשֶלֶת הַרְבֵּה בִּכְבוֹדוֹ שֶׁל יַעְקֹב וּלְשֵׁב שְׁמִים הָכִי "עָשָׂה לוֹ כְּתֹנֶת פַּסִים", לֹא לְשַׁנוֹתוֹ מִשְׁאָר בְּנִיו חֵס וְשָׁלוֹם, אֶלָּא כְּדֵי שֶׁהָעוֹלָם יִרְאוּ שְׁנוּי זֶה וְיִשְׁאֲלוּ הַטַּעַם וּבִין כָּך וּבִין כָּך יִרְאוּ שֶׁהוּא חָכָם וְיוֹדוּ לְמַפְרֵע שֶׁיַעְלִב בְּהָיתֵר נַשָּׂא רָחַל.

It's already known that the world has a complaint against Jacob, that he married two sisters, that is, that he married Rachel through a sin, or perhaps that he took her for the sake of enjoyment, as it is written, "Rachel was shapely and beautiful." <sup>12</sup>

Now, it is indeed so that Jacob taught Torah to all of his sons, and they were all wise, but for Joseph, [Jacob] was more careful and he passed on to him everything that he had learned from the yeshiva of Shem and Eber. That is because being a wise man, it is clear retrospectively that Jacob married Rachel with permission and for the sake of Heaven, as we have learned above from Midrash Num. Rabbah 5:6 and Parashat Derachim. Therefore, [Jacob] favored [Joseph] more than all his sons, because he was a wise son to him, and the wisdom of Joseph greatly exalted Jacob's honor, as it countered the claims of those who said that Jacob was wrong in Rachel after having been tricked into marrying Leah.

Because of this, "he made him a coat of many colors," not to distinguish him from his other sons, G-d forbid, rather in order that the world would see this difference and would ask the reason, and either way, they would see that he was wise and would know retrospectively that Jacob had permission to marry Rachel.

ּוְשֶׁמָּא זֶה הַכְּתוֹנֶת הָיָה כְּמוֹ הַסוּדָרָא דְּאָמְרינֵן בְּשַׁבָּת בֶּרֶק הַמוֹצִיא יַיִן סוּדָרָא סוֹד ה' לִירַאָיו, וּפֵרַשׁ רַשִּׁ"י דֶּרֶךְ תַּלְמִידֵי חַכָּמִים לְעָטוּף סוּדָר. וְאַף עַל פִּי כֵּן מִצִּינוּ שֶׁגָּרַם שִׁנְאָה לְאָחִיו, וְלָכֵן קָאָמֵר הַגְּמָרָא לְעוֹלָם אַל יְשַׁנֶּה אָדָם וְכוּ', כְּלוֹמֵר אַף אָם יִהְיֵה לוֹ טַעַם הַגוּן לִשָּׁנוֹת אֶת בָּנוֹ כִּמוֹ שֶׁהָיֵה לִיעַלְב, אַף עַל פִּי כֵּן לֹא יִשַׁנֶּה.

Perhaps this coat was like the turban that is spoken about in tractate Shabbat, chapter 8 entitled "who takes out wine": "[The head covering of Torah scholars is called] sudara, [which is an acronym for sod yareh, referencing the verse]: 'The counsel of the L-rd is with those who fear Him [sod Hashem lire'av].' "13 Rashi explains that it was the way of Torah scholars to wrap a scarf around their heads.

Yet we found that he caused hatred for his brothers, and therefore the Gemara said, "A person should never distinguish his son [from] among [the other] sons [by giving him preferential treatment]." That is the answer to the question of why the word "never" is included. It is as if to say, even if he had a decent reason to distinguish his son, as Jacob had, nevertheless he should not distinguish him.

ּלְעוֹד בְּדֶרֶךְ אַחֶּרֶת, אֵיךְ אָפְשָׁר שֶׁיַּעֲלָב שָׁנָה יוֹסֵף בֵּין הַבָּנִים בְּכְתוֹנֶת פַּסִים שֶׁעָשָׁה לְיוֹסֵף, וְהַלֹּא הָיָה לוֹ לְחוּשׁ כָּן יִתְקַנְּאוּ בּוֹ אָחָיו, כְּמוֹ שֶׁהָיָה. וְיֵשׁ לוֹמֵר שֶׁיַצְלָב הָיָה סוֹבֵר דְּמֵאי דְּאָמְרִינֵן אַל יִשׁנָּה אָדָם אֶת בְּנוֹ בֵּין הַבְּנִים הוּא מִטַעִם שֶׁהשׁנּוּי מוֹלִיד קְנָאָה בִּשְׁאַר הַבָּנִים, וְהַקּנָאָה גֹוֹרֶמֶת לְעֵין הָרַע. וּבְכֶּרֶק [ט'] דְּמְצִיעָא אָמְרִינֵן תִּשְׁעָה בָּעִין, וְנִמְצָא זָה הַבֵּן מוֹלִיד קּנְאָה בִּשְׁאַר הַבָּנִים, וְהַקּנָאָה גֹוֹרֶמֶת לְעֵין הָרַע. וּבְכֶּרֶק [ט'] דְּמְצִיעָא אָמְרִינֵן תִּשְׁעִה הָנִים וְתִשְׁעָה בָּעִין, וְנִמְצָא זָה הַבֵּן בְּסְכָּנָה, אָמְנָם עַתָּה שֶׁיַּעֲלָב לֹא עָשָׂה כָּךְ לִיוֹסֵף אָלָּא לְאַחַר שָׁנִיצוּוֹ מִעְשָׁוֹ. וּכְבֶר זָכָה יוֹסֵף לְבְרְכַּת "בֵּן פֹּרָת עֲלִי־עָיִן" מִחְמַת הַמִּעֲשָׁה שֶׁל "וְאָחַר נָגַשׁ יוֹסֵף וְרָחֵל וַיִּשְׁתָּחוֹוּ", לֹא הָיְתָה לוֹ שׁוּם קְפִידָּא לְשַׁנּוֹתוֹ מִשְׁאַר אָחִיו, הוֹאִיל שָׁאֵין הָעַיִן שׁוֹלֵט בּוֹ.

Also, in another way of looking at it, how is it possible that Jacob distinguished Joseph among the sons with a coat of many colors that he made for Joseph, for wasn't he worried lest his brothers would be jealous, as happened? It can be said that Jacob was of the opinion that what was said, "A person should not distinguish his son [from] among [the other] sons [by giving him preferential treatment]" was for the reason that the preference would lead to jealousy among the other brothers, and the jealousy would cause the evil eye.

In the ninth chapter of tractate Bava Metzia, it is said: "Rav went to a graveyard, [and] did what he did [i.e., he used an incantation to find out how those buried there died, and he] said: Ninety-nine [of these died] by the evil eye, and [only] one [died] by [entirely] natural means."<sup>14</sup>

This [preference] placed the son in danger, although now Jacob did not do this to Joseph, i.e., endanger him by showing preference, until after [Jacob] was saved from Esau, as recounted in Gen. 33:1–16. Joseph had already merited the blessing, "Joseph is a fruitful vine, a fruitful vine by a spring [alei ayin], its branches run over a wall," because of the incident of "and last, Joseph and Rachel came forward and bowed low." Rashi explains, based on Gen. Rabbah 78:10, that the other matriarchs approached Esau before their children, but in the case of Rachel, Joseph preceded her, afraid that Esau would desire her. Because he stood in front of her and prevented Esau from gazing at her, he was rewarded with the blessing alei ayin.<sup>17</sup> The word "ayin" can represent either "an eye" or "a spring," and the Gemara includes the homiletic interpretation, "Don't read alei ayin, "a vine by a spring," but rather olei ayin, "above the eye," i.e., beyond the influence of the evil eye. Thus, Joseph and his descendants are not at danger of the evil eye. There was no particular fear against distinguishing him from the other brothers, since there was no evil eye ruling over him.

Also, the author of the Ba'al HaTurim<sup>19</sup> wrote that for the phrase "ben zekunim" ["son of his old age"], the word "zekunim" ["old age"] [represents] the initial letters of the words of five of the six orders of the Mishnah: Zeraim;<sup>20</sup> Kodashim;<sup>21</sup> Nashim;<sup>22</sup> Yeshuot ["salvations, which Shabbat 31a says refers to the order of Nezikim];<sup>23</sup> and Moed.<sup>24</sup> A difficulty is that the order of Tohorot<sup>25</sup> is missing. It appears that the end of the verse hints at this sixth order by saying, "and he made him a coat of many colors." That intended to say that he made for him a garment for himself, a hint that he should not share garments because of the risk of ritual impurity. This is in the way that the Mishnah states, "The garments of those who eat teruma [a portion of produce given to the priests, which can be eaten by them, their families, and servants, but only in a state of ritual purity, are nevertheless like an object trodden on by a zav, someone suffering from gonorrhea] with regard to sacrificial [food, which has a higher level of holiness]."<sup>26</sup>
