Chapter LVII: Kinnot (Lamentations)

Essay 13: The path to repentance is distancing oneself from the path of sinners.

ַּכְּסוּק נָפְלָה עֲטֶרֶת ראֹשֵׁנוּ אוֹי־נָא לָנוּ כִּי חָטָאנוּ. כְּלוֹמֵר עַכְשָׁיו שֶׁנָּפְלָה עֲטֶרֶת ראֹשֵנוּ מֵחָמַת עֲוֹונוֹתֵינוּ, אָם נִתְוַדֶּה בְּלֵב שָׁלֵם וְנאֹמֵר אוֹי־נָא לָנוּ כִּי חָטָאנוּ, תַּחְזוֹר הָעֲטָרָה לְמְקוֹמָה. וּלְפִי שֶׁאֵין בָּנוּ כֹּחַ לַעֲשׁוֹת תִּשׁוּבָה כְּנֶסֶת יִשְׂרָאֵל הָשִׁיבֵנוּ וָכוּ' מֵּן בַּנוּ כֹּחַ לַעֲשׁוֹת תִּשׁוּבָה וָנַשׁוּבָה.

There is a verse: "The crown has fallen from our head; woe to us, that we have sinned!" (Lam. 5:16), as if to say, "Now that the crown has fallen from our head because of our sins, if we would confess wholeheartedly and say, 'Woe to us, that we have sinned,' the crown would be restored to its place." Because we don't have the strength to repent, the Assembly of Israel said, "Bring us back to You, O L-rd, and we will be restored; renew our days as of old!" (Lam. 5:21), as if to say, "Give us the strength to repent, and we will be restored."

וְאַחַר כָּךְ אָמַר כִּי אָם־מָאֹס מְאַסְתָּנוּ, וְאָנוּ כּוֹפְלִים הָשִׁיבֵנוּ וְכוּ' כְּלוֹמֵר אַף כִּי מָאֹס מְאַסְתָּנוּ וּלְמַעַן רְשׁעֵתַנוּ קּצַפְתָּ עָלֵינוּ עַד־ מְאֹד, עֲשֹׁה עִפְּנוּ כָּמוֹ שֶׁהָבְטַחְתָּנוּ אִם־לֹא בָּיָד חָזָקָה . . . וּבְחֵמָה שְׁפוּכָה אֶמְלוֹךְ עֲלֵיכֶם וְתִהְיֶה תְּשׁוּעָה לְנוּ, דְּכֶל כִּי הַאי רִיתְחָא לִירְתַח רַחֲמָנָא עָלוֹ וְיִפְּרְקִינָן. וְעוֹד דְּאָמְרִינַן בְּסוְהֶדְרִין אִם יִשְׂרָאֵל אֵין עוֹשִׁים תְּשׁוּבָה הקב"ה מַעֲמִיד לָהֶם מֶלֶךְ שָׁגָּזַרוֹתִיו קְשׁוֹת כְּהָמָן וּמַחָזִירָן לַמּוּטָב.

Afterward, Jeremiah said in the final verse of Lamentations, "For you have utterly rejected us, and are very furious with us" (Lam. 5:22), but in order to avoid ending the book on a negative note, we repeat the penultimate verse, "Bring us back to You, O L-rd, and we will be restored." This is to say, "Even though You have rejected us, and because of our wickedness You are very furious with us, treat us as You have promised us: 'Surely I will reign over you with a mighty hand ... and with overflowing fury' (Ezek. 20:33). Then we will have a salvation, as Rav Nachman said, 'Let the Merciful One become wrathful at us with all that wrath, and He will redeem us' (Sanhedrin 105a)." Further, as it is said in Sanhedrin by Rabbi Yehoshua, "If Israel does not repent, the Holy One, Blessed be He, will establish a king for them whose decrees are as harsh as those of Haman, and this will restore them to the proper path" (Sanhedrin 97b).

וּמִטַעַם זָה אָנוּ כּוֹפְלִים הַפָּסוּק [הָנֵה אָנֹכִי] שׁלֵח לָכֶם אֵת אַלֹּיָה הַנָּבִיא, שֶׁמְּחָחָלָה אָמַר זִכְרוּ תּוֹרַת מֹשֶׁה עַבְדִּי שֶׁבְּשְׁבִיל זֶה [הָנֵה אָנֹכִי] שֹׁלֵחַ וְכוּ', וְאָם לֹא תִּהְיוּ כְּשֵׁרִים אָבוֹא וְהִכֵּיתִי אֶת־הָאָרֶץ חֵרֶם, וְאַף בְּכָל הַאִי רִיתְחָא [הְנֵּה אָנֹכִי] שׁוֹלֵחַ לָכֶם וְכוּ'.

For the same reason, when we complete the book of Malachi, of which the last verse speaks of G-d striking the land with utter destruction, we afterward repeat the penultimate verse, "Lo, I will send¹ the prophet Elijah to you before the coming of the awesome, fearful day of the L-rd" (Malachi 3:23). For first, i.e., prior to verse 3:23, [Malachi] said, "Be mindful of the teaching of My servant Moses, whom I charged at Horeb with laws and rules for all Israel" (Malachi 3:22), for because of this, i.e., being mindful of Moses, "Lo, I will send the prophet Elijah to you." But if you won't be proper, "I will come and I will strike the whole land with utter destruction" (Malachi 3:24), and even with all this anger, "Lo, I will send the prophet Elijah to you."

וּמְכָּל שֶׁכֵּן שֶׁכָּךְ הוּא מִדּוֹתָיו שֶׁאֵין הקב"ה חָפֵץ בְּמִיתַת הָרָשָׁע אֶלָּא אַדְרַבָּא חָפֵץ לְהַצְּדִּיק, כְּמוֹ שֶׁאָמַר הַכָּתוּב דַּחֹה דְחִיתִנִּי לְנְּכֹּל נָהוֹ עֲזָרְנִי, עָזִּי וְזִמְרָת יָה וְכוּ'. וְגַרְסִינָן בְּפֶּרֶק ג' דְּמְנָחוֹת אָמַר רֵב אָשִׁי חָזִינַן לְהוּ לְסַבְּרִי דְּוִקְנֵי דְּחַטְרֵי לְהוּ לְגַּיִה דְּהַ"א וְכוּ'. וּמֵאי טַעְמָא תַּלְיָא כַּרְעֵיה? דְּאִי הָדֵר בֵּיה, לֵיזִיל בְּהָדְּ, וְלִיעִיִילִיה בְּהָדְ, לֹא אִיסְמּיִיעָא מִילְנָא כָּרְעֵיה לְהַבְּ"ה אָם חוֹזֵר בּוֹ אֲנִי קוֹשֵׁר לוֹ כֶּתֶר מִילְתָא, וְכִדְרֵישׁ לָקִישׁ דְּבָא לִיטָהֵר מְסִיִּיעִין אוֹתוֹ. וּמַאי טַעְמָא אִית לֵיה תָּאגָא אָמַר הקב"ה אָם חוֹזֵר בּוֹ אֲנִי קוֹשֵׁר לוֹ כֶּתֶר עכּ"ל.

Obviously, this is His character, that the Holy One, Blessed be He, does not desire the death of the wicked, but to the contrary, he desires that he become righteous. This is as Scripture says regarding the nations, "You pushed me hard so that I would fall, but the L-rd helped me. The L-rd is my strength and my song . . ." (Ps. 118:13–14).

The proper reading of the third chapter of tractate Menachot:

[The Gemara discusses the significance of crowns being placed on letters of the Torah.] Rava says: Seven letters require three crowns [ziyyunin], and they are the letters shin, ayin, tet, nun, zayin, gimmel and tzadi. Rav Ashi says: "I have seen that the exacting scribes of the study hall of Rav would put a hump-like stroke on the roof of [the letter] chet² and they would suspend the [left] leg of [the letter] heh [i.e., they would ensure that it is not joined to the roof of the letter]."

Rava explains: "They would put a hump-like stroke on the roof of the letter chet as if to thereby say: The Holy One, Blessed be He, lives [chai] in the heights of the universe. And they would suspend the left leg of the letter heh . . ."

[The Gemara then explains that the significance of the letter heh is that this world was created with the letter heh.]

¹ The translator has corrected the text in three places in this paragraph, which in the first edition had the similar words "הנני שולח לכם," which actually appear in Joel 2:19.

² Thus, Rabbeinu Tam held that the chet should be written as: \(\textit{\textit{T}}\). Rashi held that it should be written without the hump.

And for what [reason] was this world created with [the letter] heh? Because [the letter heh], which [is open on its bottom, has] a similar [appearance] to a colonnade.³ [It alludes to this world], where anyone who wishes to leave may leave [i.e., every person has the ability to choose to do evil]. And what is the reason [that the left] leg of [the letter heh] is suspended [i.e., is not joined to the roof of the letter]? Because if one repents, he is brought [back] in [through the opening at the top.]

But [why not] let him enter through that [same way that he left, i.e., through the opening at the bottom of the letter heh]? [That would likely] not come to pass, in accordance with [the statement] of Reish Lakish. As Reish Lakish says: What [is the meaning of that] which is written: "If it concerns the scorners, He scorns them, but to the humble He gives grace" (Prov. 3:34)? [One who] comes to become pure [is viewed as being humble, so] he is assisted [from Heaven]. [One who] comes to become impure [is viewed as being a scorner, so] he is provided with an opening [to become impure]. And what is the reason [that the letter heh] has a tag [on its roof]? The Holy One, Blessed be He, says: If [a sinner] returns [in repentance], I make a crown for him.

- Menachot 29b

ּוּתְחִלָּה אוֹמֵר הָרָשָׁע דַּחֹה דְחִיתַנִי וְכוּ'. לְפִי סְבָרַת אוֹתָם הַסּוֹפְרִים שָׁצִינָם דַּוְוקְנִים צֵינָם תּוֹלִים רֶגֶל הָהָ"א, הֵם הָיוּ דּוֹחִים אוֹתִי לְנְפֹל. לְפִי שָׁאָם אֶרְצֶה לְשׁוּב צָרִידְ אָנִי לֵילֵךְ עַד כֶּתַח שֶׁל מַטָּה וְלֹא אִיסְתַּיִיעָא מִילְתָא. אֲבָל וַה' עְזָרָנִי שֶׁלְפִי סְבָרַת הַדּוְוקָנִים רָצָה שֶׁתִּהָיֶה פָּתוּחָה אַף לְמַעֲלָה, כִּדְרֵישׁ לָקִישׁ דְּהַבָּא לִיטָּהֵר מְסַיִיעִין אוֹתוֹ, וְעוֹד שֶׁעָשָׂה לִי כֶּתֶר, וְזֶהוּ עַזִּי וְכוּ'.

First, the wicked said, "You pushed me hard so that I would fall" (Ps. 118:13). According to the opinion of the scribes who weren't so exacting, they would not suspend the left leg of the letter heh, i.e., they would join it to the roof of the letter. "They were pushing me to fall!" According to the fact that if I will want to return in repentance, and the entrance that is supposed to be between the left leg and the roof of the heh is not there, then I will need to go to the lower opening, i.e., the opening at the bottom of the heh, and that will not be effective. "But the L-rd helped me," for according to the opinion of the exacting scribes, [G-d] wanted there to be also an upper opening. According to Reish Lakish, one who comes to become pure is assisted by Heaven, and also, He made a crown for me, and this is the meaning of, "The L-rd is my strength and my song" (Ps. 118:14).

⁴ In a sefer Torah, many letters are provided with a tag, or crown, that may consist of one or several strokes. Most of the occurrences of the letter heh in the Torah do not have such a crown, but Sefer Tagin states that there are 360 occurrences of the letter heh that receive a crown with four strokes, and 18 occurrences that receive a crown with a single stroke.

פָּתָחוּ־לִי שַׁצְרֵי־צֶדֶק וְכוּ'. הַגַּה הַפֶּתַח שֶׁל מַעֲלָה מוּכֶנֶת לְטוֹב לְבַעֲלִי הַתְּשׁוּבָה, אֲבֶל אֵין הָכִי נָמֵי שֶׁיְכוֹלִים אַף לִילֵךְ בַּפֶּתַח שָׁל מַטָּה. וְזָהוּ שַׁצְרֵי־צֶדֶק לָשׁוֹן רָבִים, אָבא־בָם וְכוּ'. אַך זֶה־הַשַּׁעַר לַה' שֶׁהוּא שֶׁל מַטָה לְבַד, צַדִּיקִים יָבֹאוּ בוֹ. וּלְפִי שֻׁעֲנִיתָנִי בְּיִיסוּרִיו, אָנִי מוֹדֶה לְךּ, שֶׁזֹאת [וַתְּהִי־]לִי לִ[י]שׁוּעָה. שֶׁשַּׁבְתִּי בְּתְשׁוּבָה עַד כִּי אֶבֶן מָאֲסוּ הַבּוֹנִים, שֶׁהָיוּ אוֹמְרִים אֵין לוֹ עוֹד תִּקוָה, הָיְתָה לְרֹאשׁ פִּנָּה. הָיָה לוֹ פֶּתַח סְמוּךְ לַגַּג הַכֶּתֶר שֶׁהוּא לְמַעְלָה מִפֶּתַח הַצִּדִיקִים.

"Open the gates of righteousness for me" (Ps. 118:19). Here the upper opening is prepared for good, for the ba'alei tshuva, but it is granted that they are able to enter even through the lower opening. That is, it is unlikely that a habitual sinner who repents could re-enter this world through the same path from which he left, but it is not impossible. The Maharsha explained this difficulty, that if one sins by going to one extreme, for example by being a miser and refusing to give charity, then his path to repentance is not to simply attempt to return to the golden mean (the middle path, דרך האמצע,), but rather he should go to the opposite extreme and become a spendthrift. Then he will eventually be able to achieve a balance. Going from one extreme to another requires traveling a far distance, as though from the lower entrance of the heh to the upper entrance.

It also seems to the translator that if the opening at the bottom of the heh is used by people choosing to leave this world (metaphorically, by becoming sinners), then one who attempts to return through the same opening (by repenting and re-entering this world) will be fighting against the tide of people rushing in the opposite direction, toward sin. Practically speaking, consider one who frequents bars with friends and drinks to excess. If he decides to repent, he can, in theory, continue going to the same bars with the same friends, drinking soda instead of alcohol. But it would be much easier for him to choose a different path, to distance himself from the bars and from his friends, and thus avoid their influence.

This discussion of the two openings in the letter heh, which is symbolic of this world, is what Scripture means by the "gates of righteousness," which is presented in plural form, "that I may enter them and praise the L-rd" (Ps. 118:19), that I may enter through these gates in repentance and choose life. But the next verse reads, "This is the gateway to the L-rd" (Ps. 118:20), which is the lower one only, "the righteous shall enter through it" (Ps. 118:20). As discussed above, one who is not righteous would have a very hard time entering through the lower opening, and it is better for him to go to the opposite extreme in behavior, and to enter from the upper opening. But isn't everyone outside the heh someone who has chosen to sin? Why then would a righteous person be outside of the heh in the first place, or stated differently, how can someone who is outside the heh be called a righteous person? As Kohelet says, "For there is not a righteous man upon earth, that does good, and does not sin" (Eccl. 7:20). Therefore, the sense here is that the righteous person is one who is mostly righteous, but who is subject to err from time-totime. That person is not a habitual sinner, and he does not have to go to the opposite extreme before returning to the golden mean; thus, he can enter through the lower doorway.

⁶ A ba'al tshuva is a person who came from a secular background, but completed a process of introspection and became fully religiously observant.

According to the fact that you answered me in my torment, I thank You, in that "You have become my deliverance" (Ps. 118:21). For I returned in repentance as far as "the stone that builders rejected" (Ps. 118:22), by which they were saying "he no longer has hope," but now, that stone "has become the main cornerstone" (Ps. 118:22). Now, he had an opening adjacent to the roof of the crown of the letter heh, which is above the opening of the righteous. As explained above, the righteous person is not a habitual sinner, and he can enter through the bottom opening of the heh, but the habitual sinner who wants to repent has G-d's help, and can therefore enter through the upper opening.

ְעוֹד יֵשׁ לְכָאֵר פְּשָׁט הַכְּתוּב וְהַכֶּפֶל שֶׁל דַּחֹה דְחִיתִנִי. דְּאִיתָא בַּפֶּרֶק ח' דְּיוֹמֶא כֵּיוָן שֶׁעָבֶר אָדָם עֲבֵירָה וְשָׁנָה בָּה נַעֲשֵׂית לוֹ בְּהֶיתַּנִי, וְלָבֵן הַיֵּצֶר הָרַע מֵסִית אֶת הָאָדָם לַעֲבוֹר שְׁתֵּי פְּעָמִים עֲבֵירָה אֵחַת, וְזֶהוּ דַּחֹה דְחִיתַנִי, כְּדֵי שֻׁיּפּוֹל בְּיָדוֹ שֶׁהָרִי נַצְשֵׂית לוֹ בְּהֶיתֵּר. וְלָבוֹר שְׁתָּי נְאַדְרַבָּא שַׁבְתִּי בַּחְשׁוֹבָה מֵחֵטְא הָראשׁוֹן. וְעַל דֶּרֶדְ זָה אָמֵר הַכֶּתוּב לוֹ בְּהֶיתִּר הְי עֲלֹד שָׁלְא שָׁלֹא שָׁנִיתִי בַּדֶּרֶךְ, וּמָהוּ בַּדֶּרֶךְ עִם הָ"א הַיְּדִיעָה, וּמַה דֶּרֶךְ הִיא זוֹ? אֶלָא מְשׁוּם שֶׁהקב"ה הוּא טוֹב־ וְיָשֶׁר, שֲׁהְם בֶּדְרָדְ עִם הַ"א בִּיְדִיעָה, וּמָה דֶּרֶךְ הִיּא אִיכָּא רוּבָּא עֲוֹנוֹת מִתְחַשֵּׁב בַּהְדִיְיהוּ. עַלֹ וְיָשֶׁר, שֻׁמְחִלָּה שְׁל הָהָ"א.

Further, it's worth clarifying the simple meaning of the verse and the doubling of the root "to push" by presenting two words, "dacho dechitani" (דָהה דָהִיתָנִי) ("you pushed me hard"). For it is brought in the eighth chapter of tractate Yoma (87a), "Rav Huna said that Rav said: Once a person commits a transgression and repeats it, it becomes permitted to him." Therefore, the evil inclination seduces the man to commit one transgression two times, and this is the intent of the doubling "dacho dechitani" that we translate as "you pushed me hard," so that [the transgression] will fall into the man's grasp as though it has become permissible. "But the L-rd helped me," that I didn't repeat the sin and that I didn't fall, and to the contrary, I returned in repentance from the first sin. In this way, Scripture says, "Good and upright is the L-rd; therefore, He shows sinners the way" (Ps. 25:8). What is this word ba'darech (בַּרַרָּדָ), meaning "the way," with the definite article, and what is this "way"? Because the Holy One, Blessed be He, is good and upright: In the beginning, He is good in that He forgives sin, and afterward, He is upright, for as Rava said, "That sin itself [which G-d overlooks] is not [completely] erased; if [the individual's actions are still] mostly sins, [G-d] counts [the overlooked sin] with them [and metes out punishment accordingly]" (Rosh Hashana 17a). Therefore, "He shows sinners" that they can enter by the same known upper path of the heh. That is "the way" to repentance, i.e., by distancing oneself from the behavior (and perhaps the associations) that one had as a sinner, and instead go to the opposite extreme.

אַדְּ קַשֶּׁה מַאִי דְּאָמְרִינַן בַּפֶּרֶק ב' דְּמַכּוֹת, אָם לַחַטָּאִים מוֹרֶה, קֵל וָחוֹמֶר לַצַּדִּיקִים עכ"ל, וּלְפִּי מַה שֶׁכָּתַבְנוּ לַיכָּא קֵל וָחוֹמֶר וְיֵשׁ לוֹמֵר דְּטַעֲמָא דְּהַאִי פֶּתַח הוּא כִּדְרִישׁ לָקִישׁ דְּאָמֵר בָּא לִיטָהֵר מְסִיְּיעִין אוֹתוֹ, וְהַשְׁתָּא עָבִיד הַקּל וָחוֹמֶר שׁפִּיר, אִם לְחָטָאִים מוֹרָה דְּעָבֵיד לֵיה פָּתַחָא מִשׁוּם דְּהַבָּא לִיטָהֵר מְסִיִּעין אוֹתוֹ, קַל וָחוֹמֶר לַצִּדִיקִים שֶׁיְסִיִּיעוּ אוֹתָם שֶׁלֹא יְחַטְּאוּ.

But it's difficult to understand what it says in the second chapter of tractate Makkot:

It is taught [in a Baraita] that Rabbi Eliezer ben Ya'akov says: Refuge was written on [signs at every] crossroads [marking the path to a city of refuge], so that the [unintentional] murderer would identify [the route to the city of refuge] and turn to go there. . . . Rav Chama bar Chanina first quoted Prov. 25:8, "Good and upright is the L-rd; therefore He shows sinners the way," then said: "If [G-d] shows sinners the way by commanding the placing of signs directing them to the city of refuge, it may be inferred, then a fortiori He will show the way to the righteous."

- Makkot 10a-b

But according to what we wrote above, there is no a fortiori here! That is, we said above that the sinners need G-d's assistance in finding the correct path for them, the upper opening of the heh, distant from their previous behavior (and perhaps from their previous associations). But the righteous do not need G-d's assistance, and can even enter through the lower opening of the heh, fighting against the tide of sinners exiting. Thus, based on what we said above, it is the sinners who get special assistance, and the righteous would not get special assistance, let alone even greater assistance than the sinners. It can be said that the sense of this opening is like the opinion of Reish Lakish, who said, "One who comes to become pure is assisted by Heaven," now the a fortiori becomes appealing. If for the sinners, He shows that He made an opening for [them] because, "One who comes to become pure is assisted," then a fortiori for the righteous, He will assist them that they won't sin.

ְהָטַעַם דְּלֹא אִיסְתַּיִּיעָא מִילְתָא בַּפֶּתַח שֶׁל מַטָה שֶׁל הַהֵּ"א, דְאָמְרִינֵן הַתָם מִפְּנֵי מַה נִבְרָא הָעוֹלָם בַּהַ"א, מִפְּנֵי שֶׁדּוֹמֶה לְאַכְסְדְרָא, שֻׁכָּל הָרוֹצֶה לָצֵאת יוֹצֵא. וּמִי שֻׁחָטָא יֵצֵא בְּאוֹתוֹ פֶּתַח שֶׁל מַטָּה, וְאֵינוֹ בַּדִּין שֶׁהַקְטִיגוֹר נַעֲשָׂה סְנֵיגוֹר, וְלָכֵן צְרִידְ לְפָתוֹם לוֹ פֶּתַח שֻׁבְּעָלִי תְּשׁוּבָה עוֹמְדִים אֵין צַדִּיקִים גְּמוּרִים יְכוֹלִים לַעֲמוֹד, שֶׁהָרֵי הַפֶּתַח הַקְּטָן הַזָּה הוּא לְפָתוֹם שֶׁבְּעָלִי תְּשׁוּבָה עוֹמְדִים אֵין צִדִּיקִים גְּמוּרִים יְכוֹלִים לַעֲמוֹד, שֻׁהָר הָגְזַר דִּין הִיא יָפָה עַד מְאֹד. הַפֶּתַח לְבַעֲלִי תְּשׁוּבְה, וְהוּא יוֹתֵר עֶּלְיוֹן מִפֶּתַח שֶׁל צַדִּיקִים גְּמוּרִים. וּגְדוֹלָה תְשׁוּכָה שָׁאַף לְאַחַר הַגְּזַר הִישׁ הָיִשׁב אַפְּדְ וֹתְנַחְ מַנְּרָה רָעָל פַּרְשׁוּ שֻׁמוֹדֶה להקב"ה מִי שֶׁלְטוֹבְתוֹ נִשְׁבַּרָה רֶגֶל פָּרָתוֹ.

The sense is that entry through the lower opening of the heh will not come to pass, for it says there, in Menachot 29b: "And for what [reason] was this world created with [the letter] heh? Because [the letter heh], which [is open on its bottom, has] a similar [appearance] to a colonnade. [It alludes to this world], where anyone who wishes to leave may leave [i.e., every person has the ability to choose to do evil]." One who sins leaves by the same lower opening, and it's against the law "that a prosecutor becomes an advocate," and therefore it is needed to open another opening for him. This is represented by the adage of Rabbi Avahu, "In a place where ba'alei tshuva stand, the completely righteous are not able to stand" (Berachot 34b), for this small opening at the upper side of the heh is the opening for the ba'alei tshuva; it is higher than the opening for completely righteous [people]. Great is repentance, for even after the Divine decree of the Exile, [repentance] is still exceedingly beautiful. Thus, Scripture says, "I give thanks to You, O L-rd; although You were angry with me, Your anger has turned away and You comfort me" (Isaiah 12:1), and [the rabbis] of blessed memory explained that one should give thanks to the Holy One, Blessed be He, [for whom] is fulfilled the principle that "It was for his own good that his cow broke its leg." "

ְּוְעוֹד יֵשׁ לוֹמֵר שֶׁשְׁלֹמֹה אָמֵר בִּתְפָלֶתוֹ כִּי יָחֶטְאוּ־לָךְ כִּי אֵין אָדָם אֲשֶׁר לֹא־יָחֱטָא וְאָנַפְתָּ כָם וּנְתַתָּם לְפְנֵי אוֹיֵב וְשָׁבוּם שׁוֹבֵיהֶם וְכוּ' וְשָׁבוּ אֵלִיךְ בְּכָל־לִבְּם וּבְכָל־נַפְשָׁם . . . וְשָׁמֵעְתָּ מִן־הַשָּׁמִים וְכוּ' וְעָשִׂיתָ מִשְׁפָּטָם וְסַלַחָתָּ לְעַמְּךְ אֲשֶׁר חָטְאוּ־לָךְ. וְקְשֶׁה מַה צוֹרֵךְ הָיָה לִשְׁלֹמֹה לוֹמֵר וְאָנַפְתָּ בָם וּנְתַתַּם לִפְנֵי אוֹיֵב, לֹא הָיָה לוֹ לוֹמֵר אֻלָּא כִּי יֶחֶטְאוּ־לָךְ וְשָׁבוּ אֵלֵיךְ וְכוּ.'

It can also be said that Solomon said in his prayer:

When they sin against You—for there is no person who will not sin—and You are angry with them and deliver them to the enemy, and their captors carry them off to an enemy land, near or far. And they take it to heart in the land to which they have been carried off, and repent and make supplication to You in the land of their captivity, saying, "We have sinned, we have acted perversely, we have acted wickedly." And they turn back to You with all their heart and soul, in the land of their captivity where they were carried off, and pray in the direction of their land which You gave to their fathers and the city which You have chosen, and toward the House that I have built for Your name—. Then may You hear from Heaven, even from Your dwelling-place, their prayer and their supplications, and uphold their cause, and forgive Your people who have sinned against You.

- II Chron. 6:36-39¹²

A difficulty is what need there was for Solomon to say, "and You are angry with them and deliver them to the enemy," he only had to say "When they sin against You" and "they turn back to You."

¹¹ This appears in the first person in Yerushalmi Horayot 17b: "לטובתי נשברה רגל פרתי"." The saying appears in the third person in a number of places, including: Rashi on Zevachim 44b; Tanna Devei Eliyahu Rabbah 21:2; Kav HaYashar 8:23.

¹² Similar language appears in I Kings 8:46–50.

Rather, it's because of what was said in the first chapter of tractate Rosh Hashana.

[The rabbis agree that even after a sentence has been issued against a community, they can repent and G-d will forgive them, rescinding the sentence. However, there is a dispute between Tannaim, the sages of the Mishna, whether the same rule applies to an individual. Rabbi Meir said that if two people suffer from the same affliction, and one was saved and one was not, it is because one prayed wholeheartedly and was answered, and one prayed (albeit not wholeheartedly) and was not answered. Thus, his view was that an individual has the same rule as a community, that even after a sentence has been issued, he can repent and G-d will forgive him and rescind the sentence.]

[However, Rabbi Elazar disagreed, saying:] "Here [the first individual prayed] before sentence [was issued, and so he was answered, whereas] there [the second individual prayed] after sentence [was issued, and therefore he was not answered, because an individual cannot be forgiven after his sentence has been issued]." These are the words of Rabbi Elazar.

Rabbi Yitzchak [disagreed with Rabbi Elazar and] said: "Crying out to G-d is effective for a person, both before sentence [has been issued] and after sentence [has been issued, as even after his sentence has been issued, it can still be rescinded if he repents]."

- Rosh Hashana 18a

There [in the view of Rabbi Meir and Rabbi Elazar], [G-d] judges the sentence even of an individual, and therefore [Solomon] said, it's not sufficient praise to say "when they sin against You," and before their sentence has even been announced, to say, "they turn back [to You]" and "You will forgive [them]." Rather, the praise should recognize that even after You are angry with them and deliver them to the enemy—which is after the sentence—if they turn back [to You etc.], then "and You will forgive [them]." So too, as an individual who has sinned, I give thanks to You, O L-rd, that even in the time that You are angry with me, which is after the sentence was issued, Your anger has turned back and You comfort me, and this is the meaning of what Jeremiah has written: "For You have utterly rejected us, and are very furious with us" (Lam. 5:22), nevertheless, "bring us back to You, O L-rd, and we will be restored; renew our days as of old!" (Lam. 5:21). In any case, regarding the sentence of the community, the entire earth acknowledges that [the sentence] will be cancelled by wholehearted prayer, even after the sentence has been announced.

אָבֶל עֲדַיִין צָרִיהְ טָעַם לָפָּה בְּפָּסוּק זֶה שֶׁל הַשִּיבֵנוּ ה' אֵלֶיךְ וְנָשׁוּבָה כְּתִיב חָסֵר הַ"א וְקָרֵינֵן וְנָשׁוּבָה, וְעוֹד מַהוּ הַקֶּשֶׁר שֶׁל חַדֶּשׁ יָמֵינוּ וְכוּ'. וַחַדָא פִּירוּקָא לִחָבֶרְתָּא, שֶׁהָרִי בְּמִקְדָּשׁ שֵׁנִי הָיוּ חָסֵרִים חָמִשְׁה דְּבָרִים, אֲשׁ מִן הַשְּׁמִים, אוּרִים וְתוּמִים, הָאֲרוֹן וְכוּ'. וְהַכָּתוֹּב אוֹמֵר הֲשִׁיבֵנוּ ה' אֵלֶידּ, כְּלוֹמֵר אֲפִילוּ אָם אֵין אָנוּ כְּדָאִים לְפָחוֹת וְנָשׁוּב בְּלִי הַחְמִשְׁה דְּבָרִים, וְהַיְינוּ דְּכְשׁוֹב וְנְשׁוּב. אָמְנָם תְּפִלְּתֵנוּ וְתִקְנָתֵנוּ הִיא שֶׁוְנָשׁוּבָה כִּדְקֵרִינֵן וְנְשׁוּבָה בְּהָ"א, שֻׁזָּה יִהְיֶה כְּשִׁיְחַדְשׁ יָמֵינוּ כְּמָדָם כְּמוֹ שֶׁהָיִינוּ בְּמְרָב בְּמָב בְּמָב בְּמָב בְּמוֹ שְׁרָב. בְּמָה בְּמָב בְּמָב בְּמֹן שִׁלֹמה, דְּאָז קַיִימֵא סִיהָרָא בְּשָׁלִימוּתָא. יִהִי רַצוֹן שֵׁיִּבְנֵה בִּמְהַרָה בִּימֵי שְׁלֹמֹה, דְּאָז קַיִימָא סִיהָרָא בְּשָׁלִימוּתא. יִהִי רַצוֹן שֵׁיִבְּנֵה בִּמְהַרָה בִּימֵי שְׁלֹמֹה, דְּאָז קִייִמָא סִיהָרָא בִּשְׁלִימוּתא. יִהִי רַצוֹן שֵׁיִּבְנֵה בִּמְהָרָה בִּימֵנוּ שְׁלֹמֹה.

But we still need a sense of why in this verse of, "Bring us back to You, O L-rd, and we will be restored" [the word venashuva (וְנָשׁוּבְּה) (we will be restored)] is written missing the heh (as יונשוב, venashuv) but is pronounced venashuva, and further, what is the connection of "renew our days as of old"? One solution to the combination, is that in the Second Temple there were five things missing that had been in the First Temple, and the letter heh has a numerical value of five. The five items missing were, according to Yoma 21a: fire from Heaven; the Urim and Tumim; the Ark of the Covenant, and the Ark cover upon it, and the cherubs that were upon the Ark cover; and the Divine Presence (Shechina), and the Divine Spirit (Ruach haKodesh). The Scripture says, "Bring us back to You, O L-rd," as if to say, "Even if we are not worthwhile, at least let us be restored without the five things, and that's why it is written, "and we will be restored" deficiently, as ונשוב (venashuv). Indeed, our prayer and our hope is that "and we will be restored," as it is read "and we will be restored" with a heh and all that symbolizes, which is that He shall renew our days as of old, as we were in the First Temple in the time that it was built, in the days of Solomon, for then "the moon stood in its fullness." May it be Your will that [the Temple] will be rebuilt, speedily in our days, amen!

¹⁴ In Yoma 21a, the fact that five items from the First Temple were missing in the Second Temple was also associated with the letter heh, though with regard to the word in Haggai 1:8 for "I will be glorified," which is written as ve'ekaved (וְאַכֶּבְדָה).

¹⁵ Israel is analogized to the moon, and reached its brightest point during King Solomon's reign. Midrash Rabbah Ex. 15:26: "On the first of Nissan, the moon begins to illuminate. As the days continue, her luminosity increases, until the 15th day, when her disk is full. . . Likewise is Israel: There were fifteen generations from Abraham until Solomon; Abraham began illuminating. . . with Solomon, the moon's disk was filled." The term itself appears a number of times in Zohar, including I:150a, 223a, 249b; II:70a, 85a, 86a, 215a; III:40b, 46a, 61a, 98b, 287a. The term also appears in Zohar Chadash. For example, Zohar I:150a: "The moon stood in its fullness, and the Temple was built, and then Solomon saw Wisdom eye-to-eye, with no need for a dream [in order to prophesy]."
