Chapter LVII: Kinnot (Lamentations)

Essay 7: Avoiding distraction from Torah study.¹

מִדְרָשׁ רַבָּה פָּרָשׁת אֱמֹר רַבִּי יוֹחָנָן הַוָה מְטַיֵּיל, סָלֵיק מִטְבֶרְיָה לְצִיפּוֹרִין, וַהַוָה רַבִּי חִיָּיָא בַּר אַבָּא מִסְמַךּ לִיהּ. מָטוֹן חַד בִּי חַקַל אֲמֵר הָדֵין בַּי חַקַל הָוָה דִידִי וְזַבֵּינִית יָתִיה כְּדֵי לְמִזְכֵי בָּאוֹרַיִיתָא וְכוּ'. שָׁרֵי רַבִּי חִיָּיא בָּכִי, אָמר רַבִּי יוֹחָנָן מָה אַתּ בָּכֵי, אַמר לֵיה עַל דְּלָא שְׁבַקָתִ לְסִיבוּתָד כְּלוּם. אֲמר לֵיה קַלָּה הִיא בְּעֵינֶיד מַה שֶׁעָשׁיתִי שָׁמָכַרְתִי דָבָר שֶׁנָּא הַיַד דָּכָר שָׁנִיתֵן לְאַרְבָּעִים יוֹם עכ"ל.

Midrash Leviticus Rabbah, parshat Emor (Lev. 21:1–24:23) reads:

Rabbi Yochanan was traveling, he left from Tiberias [to go] to Tsipporin [Sepphoris], and Rabbi Chiya bar Abba was helping him. They reached a plot of farmland. [Rabbi Yochanan] said, "This farmland was mine, but I sold it in order to acquire Torah." They reached a plot that was a vineyard. He said, "This vineyard was mine, but I sold it in order to acquire Torah." They reached a plot that was an olive grove. He said, "This olive grove was mine, but I sold it in order to acquire Torah." Rabbi Chiya started to cry. Rabbi Yochanan said, "Why are you crying?" [Rabbi Chiya] said to him, "Because you did not leave anything for your old age." [Rabbi Yochanan] said to him, "Is what I did inconsequential in your eyes, that I sold something created in six days and purchased something that was given over forty days?"²

- Midrash Lev. Rabbah 30:1

ַיֵשׁ לְדַקְדֵּק מֶה הָיָתָה סְבָרָתוֹ שֶׁל רַבִּי חָיָּיא שֶׁהִתְחִיל לְבְּכּוֹת לְאַחֵר שֶׁאָמַר לוֹ שֶׁמָכַר הַכּּל בִּשְׁבִיל הַתּוֹרָה, וְכִי לֹא הָיָה מוֹדָה שָׁהַתּוֹרָה הִיא יוֹתֵר חֲשׁוּבָה. וְעוֹד שֶׁאִם רַבִּי חִיָּיא אֵינוֹ מוֹדָה לוֹ בִּסְבָרָא זוֹ אִם כֵּן מַה מְתָרֵץ לוֹ רַבִּי יוֹחָנָן קַלָּה הִיא בְּעֵינֶיף וְכוּ' שֶׁמַכַרְתִּי דָּבָר שֶׁנְּבָרָא לְשׁשָׁה יָמִים. וְהָא אַף הוּא יוֹדַעַ זֶה וְאַף עַל פִּי כֵן הַקּשָׁה לוֹ דְּלָא שְׁבַקְתָּ לְסִיבוּתָך כְּלוּם? וְעוֹד מָה אִיכְפַּת אָם נְבְרָא לְשׁשָׁה יָמִים אוֹ לְאַרְבָּעִים יוֹם וּמֵה שׁיָּיִי עְנָיָן זֶה לְכָאו?

We should scrutinize what Rabbi Chiya was thinking that he started to cry after [Rabbi Yochanan] said to him that he had sold everything for the sake of acquiring Torah, and why he didn't acknowledge that Torah was more important than the farm, vineyard, and olive groves. Furthermore, if Rabbi Chiya didn't acknowledge this logical argument, what sort of explanation is this of Rabbi Yochanan's, "Is it inconsequential in your eyes, that I sold something created in six days?" But even he knows this, and nevertheless asked him, "You did not leave anything for your old age?" Also, what difference is there if it was created in six days or forty days, and what relevance is this matter here?

² The "six days" refer to the days of Creation of the physical world; the "forty days" refer to the length of time that Moses spent on Mt. Sinai when he first ascended to receive the Torah.

ַוְיֵשׁ לוֹמֵר שֶׁגַּם רַבִּי חָיָיא הָיָה יוֹדַעַ שֶׁהַתּוֹרָה יְקָרָה הִיא מְפְּנִינִים וְכָל־חַפָּצִים לא יִשְׁוּדּבָה, אֲבָל בְּנָגָד זָה בְּתִיב קְרָא אָחֲרִינָא אֶפֶס כִּי לֹא יִהְיָה־בְּדָ אֶבִיוֹן, וְקַיִימָא לָן שֶׁאֵין לוֹ לְאָדָם לסְמוֹדְ עַל הַגַּס, וּמִכָּל שֶׁבֵן לְעַת זְקְנָה דְּאָמְרינֵן בַּמַּסֶּכֶת נִדָה בֵּיוָן שֶׁנִּיתְקוּ שִׁינָיו שֶׁל אָדָם נִיתְקוּ מְזוֹנוֹתִיו. וּפִירֵשׁ רַשִׁ"י שֶׁנִיתְקוּ שִׁינָיו שֶׁל אָדָם מַחָמַת זְקְנָה נִיתְקוּ מְזוֹנוֹתִיו קַשִׁים לָבֹא עַכ"ל. וְאַם כֵּן לָמָה לֹא שְׁבַקתְ לְסִיבוּתֵידְ כָּלוּם.

It's worth saying that even Rabbi Chiya knew that the Torah "is more precious than pearls, and all of the goods cannot equal her,"³ i.e., that it is worth great sacrifice to attain Torah. But against this, even though Scripture writes another thing, "There will be no impoverished among you" (Deut. 15:4), we maintain that man should not rely upon the miracle.⁴ That is, even though G-d has promised us that if we obey His commandments we will not be impoverished, the rabbis tell us that we should not rely upon such a miracle. Instead, we should endeavor to earn a living and to save for the future. Thus, even though Rabbi Chiyah recognized the great value of Torah, he was still concerned that Rabbi Yochanan would become impoverished and would have to rely upon a miracle. Man should especially not rely upon a miracle "in old age" (Ps. 71:9), as it says in tractate Niddah (page 65a), "Once a person's teeth fall out [and he has difficulty eating], his food is cut off."⁵ Rashi explained that, " 'Once a person's teeth fall out' [means] 'old age,'" [and] " 'his food is cut off' [means] 'difficulties to come.'" If so, why "did you not leave anything for your old age?"

וְאִי תֵּימָא שֵׁנְתְיָירֵאת פֶּן אָם יִשָּׁאֵר לְדָּ שָׁדָה אַחַת הָיָה גּוֹרֵם לְדָּ לִפְּעָמִים מְעַט טִרְדָּה בְּמַחְשֵׁבְתָּדָ, כְּדְכְתִיב מֶלֶדְ לְשָׁדָה נֶעֲבָד, וּמַחַמַת אוֹתָה הַטִּרְדָה הָיִית מַפְסִיד לְהָבִין אֵיזֶה דָּבָר בַּלִימּוּד הַתּוֹרָה, הַלֹא קְרָא כְּתִיב כִּי־ה' יִתַּן חָכְמָה? וּבְנדַּאי שֶׁבֵיוָן שֶׁעָשִׂית כָּל מַה שֶׁרָאוּי לַעֲשׁוֹת וּמָכַרְתָּ כָּל הַמּוֹתָר מְכְּדִי חַיֶּידָ מָן הַשָּׁמֵים הָיוּ מְאַירִים עֵינֵיד מִלִימוּדְדָ.

Rabby Chiya was saying: "If you will say we should fear that if one field remained yours, it would sometimes cause you a bit of trouble in your mind, as is written, 'A king makes himself servant to the field' (Eccl. 5:8), and because of this same trouble you will lose understanding of some matter in learning Torah, doesn't Scripture write, 'for the L-rd grants wisdom' (Prov. 2:6)? Certainly, since you have done everything that is proper to do and you have sold all of the surplus from your life, Heaven has enlightened your eyes in Torah, and you have not lost anything from your learning." I.e., Rabbi Chiya was suggesting that Rabbi Yochanan could have divested most of his holdings, in order to focus more on learning Torah, but that he could still have retained one field, for his old age, and that G-d would have helped him learn Torah despite any minimal distractions from the property.

וְרַבִּי יוֹחָנָן הַשִּׁיב לוֹ, הַלֹּא אֲפִילּוּ לדְבָרֶידְ הָיָה לי לסְמוֹדְ עַל הַנֵּס שֶׁל חַסְדֵי הַמָּקוֹם שֶׁיָּאִיר עֵינִי בְּתוֹרָתוֹ, וּכְשֶׁמָכַרְתִּי הַכֹּל נָמֵי סָמַכְתִּי עַל חַסְדֵי הַמָּקוֹם שֶׁיָּכִין מְזוֹנוֹתַי, וְיוֹתֵר קַל שֶׁיָּבוֹאוּ לי הַמְזוֹנוֹת שֶׁאֵינָם כָּל כָּדְ חֲשׁוּבִים שֶׁהָרֵי נִבְרְאוּ בְּשִׁשָּׁה יָמִים בּּלְבַד, מִלְבָטוֹחַ עַל הַנֵּס שֶׁיָאִיר עֵינִי בְּתוֹרָתוֹ שֶׁהִיא יִקְרָה הַרְבֵּה שֶׁנִּיחְנָה לָארְבָּעִים יוֹם.

Rabbi Yochanan answered him, "Even [according] to your words, I had to rely on the miracle of the kindness of G-d, that He would enlighten my eyes in His Torah, and when I sold everything, I also relied upon the kindness of G-d, that He would prepare my food. It's easier for the food to come to me, which isn't so important, as it was created in only six days, than to depend upon a miracle that He would enlighten my eyes in His Torah, which is much dearer, being that it was given after forty days." In other words, Rabbi Yochanan felt that if he had retained his property and had to cope with the distractions that came with it, then he would have to rely upon a miracle to acquire Torah. He preferred instead to divest his properties so that he could devote his energies to learning Torah, acquiring as much Torah as possible by his own powers, and relying upon a miracle with regard to having enough food in his old age.

וּמַאי דְּאָמְרינֵן בַּפֶּרֶק ה' דְּכְתוֹבוֹת (דַּף ס"ב), רַבִּי יוֹחָנָן הָוָה קַא סָליק בְּדַרְגָּא, וְהַוּ סָמְכֵי לֵיה רַבִּי אַמִי וְרַבִּי אַסִי, אִיפְּחִית דַּרְגָא תּוּתֵי, סָליק וָאָסְקִינְהוּ, אַמְרֵי לֵיה רַבָּנָן, וְכִי מֵאַחַר דְּהָכִי, לָמָה לֵיה לְמִסְמְכֵיה? אָמַר לְהוּ, אִם כַּן מָה אַנִּיחַ לְעַת זְקָנָה? וּפֵירֵשׁ רַשִׁ"י, אָם כֵּן, שֶׁאַתִּישׁ כֹּחִי וְלֹא יִסְמְכוּנִי, מָה אַנִּיחַ, כֹּחַ בְּעַצְמִי לְהָשְׁתַּמֵשׁ בּוֹ לְעַת זְקָנָה יוֹחָנָן הָיָה חוֹשׁשׁ לְהַנִים לְעַת זִקְנָה.

Given our understanding of Rabbi Yochanan's outlook so far, what is it that is said in the fifth chapter of tractate Ketubot (page 62a): "Rabbi Yochanan was once going up stairs, and Rav Ami and Rav Asi were supporting him. The stair collapsed under him, but he went up and pulled both of them up with him. The Sages said to him: 'Since it is clear that you are so strong, why do you need people to support you?' He said to them: 'If so, if I were to expend all my strength now, what will I leave for myself in my old age?' "Rashi explained that, " 'If so' [means] 'that my power will diminish [with age] and I won't be able to rely upon it' [and] 'what will I leave' [means] '[I should save] my strength, to use it for old age." We hear from this that even Rabbi Yochanan worried about leaving [something] for his old age.

ַיֵשׁ לוֹמַר דְּרַבִּי יוֹחָנָן הָנָה מַקְפִּיד לְהַנִּיחַ כּּחוֹ לְעֵת זִקְנָה מִשׁוּם שֶׁהַתּוֹרָה נָקְרַאת תּוּשָׁיָה שֶׁמַתֶּשֶׁת כּּחוֹ שֶׁל אָדָם מִשׁוּם הָכִי הָיָה מִשְׁתַּדֵּל שֶׁיִּתְקַיֵּים בּוֹ כּׁחוֹ, כְּדֵי שֶׁלֹא לְהִתְחַלֵּשׁ יוֹתֵר מִדָּאי לְעֵת זִקְנָה, שֶׁאָז לֹא הָיָה יָכוֹל עוֹד לַעֲסוֹק בַּתּוֹרָה.

We can say that Rabbi Yochanan was strict to rest his strength for his old age, because the Torah is called tushiya (תוֹשָׁיָה) (wisdom) because it weakens (מַקשָׁת) (mateshet) the strength of a person who engages in its study (Sanhedrin 26b). That is why he was striving that his strength would exist, in order that it shouldn't weaken more than necessary for his old age, for then if his strength weakens, he won't be able to engage in Torah. But he did not feel the need to save any land, the management of which he was concerned would distract him from Torah study.
