Chapter LVII: Kinnot (Lamentations)

Essay 9: Why Nebuchadnezzar was called "a lion."

בָּרָשַׁת יִתְרוֹ, דָּבָר אַחַר אַרְיֵה שָׁאָג מִי לֹא יִירָא, בּא וּרְאֵה, בֵּית הַמְּקְדָּשׁ נָקְרָא אַרְיֵה, שֶׁנָּאֲמַר הוֹי אָריאַל אָריאַל. וּמַלְכוּת בֵּית דָּוֹד נָקְרָא אַרְיֵה, וְיִשְׂרָאֵל נָקְרְאוּ אַרְיֵה, וּנְבוּכַדְנָצֵר נָקְרָא אַרְיֵה, וְהָחְרִיב בֵּית הַמִּקְדָּשׁ, וְנָטַל מַלְכוּת בֵּית דָּוֹד, וּמַלְכוּת בִּית הַמְּלְבָּא אַרְיֵה, וְיִשְׂרָאֵל נָקְרְאוּ אַרְיוֹת, הֵיכָן הֵם בָּנֵי, בְּאוֹתָה שָׁעָה שָׁאֹג יִשְׁאַג עַל־נָנְהוּ עכ"ל. יֵשׁ לְדַקְדֵּק לְמָה וְהָגְלָה אָת יִשְׂרָאֵל, וִהְבָּר שָׁיִהְיָה נִקְרָא אַרְיֵה לָהַחְרִיב בֵּית הַמְּקְדָּשׁ.

Midrash Exodus Rabbah, parshat Yitro (Ex. 18:1–20:23) reads:

Another matter: "I am the L-rd, your G-d" (Ex. 20:2; 20:5), as it is written, "A lion has roared, who can but fear?" (Amos 3:8) . . . Come and see, the Temple was called "a lion," as it is said, "Ah, Ariel, Ariel, city where David camped!" (Isaiah 29:1). And the kingdom of the House of David was called "a lion," as it says, "What a lioness was your mother! She crouched among the lions!" (Ezek. 19:2). And the people of Israel were called "a lion," as it says, "Judah is a lion's cub" (Gen. 49:9). And Nebuchadnezzar was called "a lion," as it says, "The lion has come up from his thicket" (Jer. 4:7), and he destroyed the Temple, carried off the kingdom of the House of David, and exiled Israel. And the Holy One, Blessed be He, says, "Where is the den of the lions?" (Nahum 2:12). "Where are my sons?" At the same hour, "He roars aloud over His [earthly] abode" (Jer. 25:30).

- Midrash Ex. Rabbah 29:9

We have to investigate why all these were called "a lion," [and] why it was necessary that Nebuchadnezzar would be called "a lion" in order for him to be able to destroy the Temple.

ְוְגֵשׁ לוֹמֵר שֶׁהָאַרְיֵה הוּא מֶלֶךּ שֶׁבַּחַיּוֹת וְכָל הַבְּרִיּוֹת מִתְיָיְרְאִין מִפֶּנָיו, וְאַף עַל פִּי שֶׁיֵשׁ דּוּבִּים וּזְאַבִים אֲפִילוּ הָכִי הוּא מֶלֶךְּ שָׁבָּחַ לְאַרְיֵה מִפְּנִי שֻׁגַּם הוּא כָּבַשׁ כָּל הָעַמִּים וְנָפַל עֲלֵיהֶם אֵימְתָה וָפַחַד, וְיִשְׁרָאֵל נְקְרָאִים שְׁבְּכַלְם. וְלָכֵן מַלְכוּת בִּית דָּוִד נִמשׁל לָאַרְיֵה מִפְּנִי שֻׁגַּם הוּא כָּבַשׁ כָּל הָעָבִיה וְנָפַּל עֲלֵיהָה וַנְפַחַד וְיִשְׂרָא לְּקָרָא אַרְיֵה מִשׁוּם דְּאָתֵי מָזָרָע דְּוִד, כְּמוֹ שֶׁכְּתב בַּעַל עֲשָׂרָה מֵאְמָרוֹת (בְּמִאְמָר לְהַקְּרָא אַרְיֵה, אֶלָּא אַרְיֵה, אֶלָּא אַרְיֵה, עָבִי לְהָקְרָא אַרְיֵה, לְפִי דְּאָתֵי מִזּרְעוֹ שֶׁל שְׁלֹמֹה מִמַלְכַּת־שְׁבָא אַחַר שֻׁגַּיִּירָה, אֶלָא שֶׁלְכָּה לֹא נָכוֹן עְמוֹ וְחָזְרָה לְסוּרָה, לָכִן רְחָקוּ בָּנְיו מִיֶּשַע.

It's worth noting that the lion is the king of beasts, and all creatures are afraid of him. Even though there are also bears and wolves—even so, he is king of all of them. Therefore, the kingdom of the House of David is likened to a lion because he also conquered all of the nations, and "terror and dread fell upon them." The people of Israel are called "a lion" because they are impudent among the nations. Nebuchadnezzar was called "a lion" because he came from the offspring of David, as the Rema M'Pano, the author of Asara Ma'amarot [Ten Utterances] has written (in the essay "Em Kol Chai" [The Mother of All the Living], section 2, page 57b, siman 23). How did "Nebuchadnezzar merit to be called 'a lion,' because he came from the offspring of Solomon from the Queen of Sheba after she converted to Judaism. But her heart was not correct with him and she turned away; therefore 'his children were far from success.' "

ּוּכְתוֹב עוֹד שָׁם שֶׁאִילּוּ מֵת הָאֲרִי בְּיָד דָּוָד לֹא הָיָה נְבוּכַדְנֶצֵּר מַחָרִיב הַבַּיִת, אֶלָּא שֶׁכָּחַשׁ גְּבוּרַת הָאֲרִי וְלֹא הֵמִיתוּ, אֲבָל מַלְכֵי מָבְי וּפָרָס שֶׁהָם הַדּוֹב רָצוּ לְבַטֵּל בִּנְיֵן הַבַּיִת וְלֹא יָכְלוּ, כִּי מֵת הַדּוֹב הָרוֹמֵז לְמַלְכוּתָם ועיי"ש בְּאוֹרֶךְ עכ"ל. וְהַבֵּית הַמְּקְדְּשׁ נְקרָס שֶׁהָם הַדּוֹב רָצוּ לְבַטֵּל בְּיָן הַבִּיִת וְחוֹזֶק הָעוֹלָם, לָכֵן מִין הָרָאוּי הוּא שֶׁיִּפּוֹל בְּיָד אַרְיֵה דַּוְקָא, וְכָל זָה הוּא לָפִי פִּשׁוֹטֵן שֵׁל דְּבַרִים.
לִפִּי פִּשׁוֹטֵן שֵׁל דְּבַרִים.

It's also written by the Rema M'Pano there in Em Kol Chai, section 2, siman 22, about the incident with David, the lion and the bear. In I Samuel 17:34–36, David introduces himself to King Saul: "David said to Saul, 'Your servant has been a shepherd of his father's sheep, and the lion and the bear came and [one of those] carried off an animal from the flock. And I went after it and struck it and rescued [the sheep] from its mouth; and it rose up on me and I grabbed it by the beard and struck it and killed it. Also the lion and also the bear your servant has struck, and this uncircumcised Philistine will be like one of them, for he has defied the ranks of the living G-d." The interpretation followed by the Rema M'Pano is that David grabbed the bear by the beard and killed it, and that he also fought the lion, but only weakened it. He writes, that if the lion had died at the hand of David, Nebuchadnezzar would not have been the destroyer of the Temple, but instead the might of the lion merely waned when David struck it and [David] didn't kill it. But the kings of Media and Persia, who were analogous to the bear, wanted to cancel the building of the Temple; and they weren't able to do so, because the bear—alluding to their kingdoms—died at the hands of David, and see there at length. The Rema M'Pano explains that the beard represents the mazal (art), the constellation or guardian angel of the bear, and that David's physical actions in fighting the lion and the bear had a later metaphysical effect on the nations associated with the lion and the bear, affecting the power they had over Israel. The Temple is called "a lion" because the world was founded from it, and because it is the might and strength of the world. Therefore, it is fitting that it should fall precisely at the hand of another "lion," and this is according to the plain meaning of the words.

אָמָנָם עֲדַיִין יֵשׁ לְדַקְדֵּק מַה בָּא הַמִּדְרָשׁ לְלַמְדֵנוּ בְּאֵלוּ הַשְּׁלֹשֶׁה דְּבָרִים טוֹבִים שֶׁנָּקְרְאוּ אַרְיֵה. הַלֹּא הָיָה דֵּי לוֹמֵר שֶׁבֵּית הַמְּקְדָשׁ נָקָרָא אַרְיֵה וּנְבוּכִדְנָצֵּר נָקָרָא אַרְיֵה? וְאַף אִם הָיָה רוֹצֶה לְהוֹסִיף שֶׁמַּלְכוּת בֵּית דָּוִד נָקְרָא אַרְיֵה מִשׁוּם נְבוּכִדְנָצֵּר דָאָתִי מִינֵיהַ כנ"ל, לֹא הָיָה לוֹ עָנָיַן לְהַזְּכִּיר כָּאן שֵׁיִּשְׂרָאֵל נָקְרָאוּ אַרְיֵה.

While it is still necessary to investigate what the Midrash came to teach us in these three good things called "lion," viz, the Temple, the kingdom of the House of David, and the people of Israel. Wasn't it enough to say that the Temple was called a lion, and Nebuchadnezzar was called a lion? Even if [the author] of the Midrash wanted to add that the kingdom of the House of David was called a lion, because Nebuchadnezzar came from him, as stated above, there was no reason for him to mention here that Israel was called "a lion."

ְוְצֵשׁ לּוֹמֵר שֶׁהַמִּדְרָשׁ רָצָה לֹרְמוֹז לָנוּ שֶׁיֵשׁ לְאַרְיֵה שְׁנֵי רְמָזִים, שֶׁיֵשׁ אַרְיֵה מְצַד הַחֶּסֶ"ד שֶׁהוּא שֵׁם שֶׁל ע"ב שׁמוֹת הַיּוֹצְאִים מַהַפְּסוּקִים שֶׁל וַיִּסַע וַיָּבֹא וַיֵּט לְאַחַר שֶׁנָבְנוּ הַבָּתִּים כְּנוֹדָע. וְיֵשׁ בּוֹ רי"ו אוֹתִיוֹת גִּימַטְרָיָא ארי"ה, וְאָז שֶׁמֵּאֶלָּא אִיתְכְּלִיל בְּיִבְנְּא שֶׁהָבְי הָשֶׁר, דְּהַיְינוּ חֶסֶד דִּין וְרַחְמִים מְתוּבְּלִים זֶה בְּזָה. וּשְׁנֵי חוּטֵי הַקְּצְווֹת הֶם כְּנָגֶד יִשְׂרָאֵל וּבִית בְּמִיב הָהְישׁר, וְהַחוּט הָאָמְצָעִי הוּא הָפּוּךְ וְרוֹמֵז לְדִין, וְהוּא נָגֶד מַלְכוּת בֵּית דָּוֹד, דְּכְתִיב בְּהוּ דִּינוּ לַבֹּקֶר מִשְׁפָּט. אֲבָל הָמִישְׁכָּ מִדְּת הָאֱמֶת דְּהַיְינוּ רַחֲמִים וְשָׁלוֹם, וְכֵן כְּתִיב וְחַסְדִּי לֹא־אָפִיר מֵעְמוֹ, זֶה הַמִּשְׁפָּט הוּא תִּיקוּן הָעוֹלָם וְקִיּוּמוֹ לְהָבִיא בָּעוֹלָם מִדָּת הָאֱמֶת דְּהַיְינוּ הַהְּבָּיִינוּ הַמְּלְבָּי לְבִּים לְהַכְשִׁיר. אַרְינָא דְּמַלְכוּתָא דִּינָא, וְהַם הַשִּׁלֹשָׁה דְּבָרִים שֶׁמֵבִיא הַמִּדְרָשׁ שֻׁנְּקְרָאִים אַרְיֵה, הוֹאִיל שֶׁכָּלָם מִצְּטְרְפִים לְהַכְשִׁיר.

It can be said that the Midrash wanted to imply to us that the lion has two hints, that there is a lion from the standpoint of chesed (707) (kindness, with a Gematria of 72), which is the term for the 72 Names of G-d coming from the three verses of Ex. 14:19–21 that begin with "and he journeyed," "and it came," and he extended" (Ex. 14:19–21), 7 the Names becoming revealed after the Temples were built, as is known to those who know Kabbalah. Each of these three verses has exactly 72 letters, so when the verses are combined, they have within them 216 letters, which is the Gematria of aryeh (אריה) (lion). Then these letters joined the right side, which are straight-reverse-straight. The boustrophedonic technique was described by Rashi in his commentary to Sukkah 45a and in Zohar II:52a. The first Name is taken from the first letter of the first verse, the last letter of the second verse, and the first letter of the third verse; the second Name is taken from the second letter of the first verse, the second-to-last letter of the second verse, and the second letter of the third verse; etc. Thus, the first and third letters of each Name are taken in "straight" order from the first and third verses, i.e., from right to left, while the second letter of each Name is taken in "reverse" order from the second verse, i.e., from left to right. In this way, the 216 letters are arranged into 72 three-letter words, each considered to be a Name of G-d. For each of these three-letter Names, the first letter represents kindness (chesed), the second letter represents justice, and the third letter represents mercy, three primary characteristics through which G-d interacts with the world, and by combining the letters in this way, the characteristics are seasoned with each other.

⁷ Ex. 14:19–21: "And he journeyed—the angel of G-d—who had been going ahead of the Israelite army, and he followed behind them; and the pillar of cloud shifted from in front of them and took up a place behind them. And it came between the army of the Egyptians and the army of Israel; thus, there was the cloud with the darkness, and it cast a spell upon the night, so that the one could not come near the other all through the night. Then Moses extended his arm over the sea and the L-rd drove back the sea with a strong east wind all that night, and turned the sea into dry ground; the waters were split,"

The two end pieces of the string of letters, i.e., the first and third letters of each of the 72 Names, correspond to Israel and the Temple, and they are straight, i.e., as noted above, taken from right to left from the first and third of the verses.

The middle of the string of letters is reversed, i.e., is taken from left to right from the second of the verses, and symbolizes justice, and corresponds to the kingdom of the House of David, as it is written in them, "Administer justice in the morning" (Jer. 21:12). But this justice is the correction of the world, and the existence of the justice is to bring the attribute of truth into the world, namely mercy and peace. Thus it is written regarding G-d's covenant with the House of David: "If his sons forsake My Teaching and do not live by My rules; if they violate My laws, and do not observe My commands, I will punish their transgression with the rod, their iniquity with plagues. But I won't take My kindness from him; I won't betray My faithfulness. I will not violate My covenant." (Ps. 89:31–35), despite the fact that "the secular law of the kingdom is the law." I.e., members of the House of David violated the covenant with G-d, and therefore according to secular contract law, He had every right to break His covenant. Nevertheless, He will not do so.

These are the three things, Israel, the Temple, and the House of David, that the Midrash brings, called "a lion," since each of them joins in making the world fit.

⁹ This perhaps relates to the fact that the Sefirah of Tiferet (splendor) is also known as Emet (truth) and Rachamim (mercy), but the translator is not aware of a connection to peace.

¹⁰ Gittin 10b.

¹¹ Alshich on Ps. 89:35: "'I won't violate My covenant': That is so even though it is possible to remove the vow."

וְגֵשׁ עוֹד אַרְגֵה מִצֵּד הַגְּבוּרָה וְהַדִּין בִּלְתִּי מְמוּזָג, שֶׁכֵּן גְבוּרָ"ה גִּימַטְרְיָּא אַרְגֵ"ה, שֶׁהֵן הָאוֹתִיוֹת נְפְּרָדוֹת וְאָז שֶׁמֵּאֶלָּא לֹא אִרְגִ"ה בְּיְמִינָא. וּבַעֲוֹנוֹתֵינוּ הָרַבִּים נִתְבַּטְלוּ חוּטֵי הַחֶּסֶד בִּשְׁלִיטַת הַגְבוּרָה דְּהַיְינוּ נְבוּכַדְנַצֵּר שָׁנַקְרָא אַרְגוּ, והקב"ה אָמַר אַיֵּה מְעוֹן אָרָיוֹת דְּהַיִינוּ הַבָּתִּים הַבְּנוּיִים כנ"ל. שֶׁהַשְּׁמֹאׁל הָיְתָה מְתוּבֶּלֶת בַּיָּמִין וְעַכְשִׁיו נָחָרְבוּ הַבָּתִּים וְנִפְּרְדוּ הָאוֹתִיּוֹת וְנַבְרָב הַשְּׁמֹאׁל.

וְנִחָרֵב הַבַּיִת וְגַבְרָה הַשְּׁמֹאׁל.

There is another "lion" from the standpoint of unconditioned courage and law, for "gevurah" (אבורה) (courage) has the same Gematria, 216, as "aryeh" (אבורה) (lion), which are the separate letters and thus these did not join the right side. By our many sins, the threads of chesed (kindness) were voided by the authority of gevurah, which is Nebuchadnezzar, who is called "a lion." The Holy One, Blessed be He, said "Where is the den of the lions?" (Nahum 2:12), which references the Temples that were built, as above. For the left side (sitra d'smola) of the Sefirot tree, representing strict judgment was previously seasoned with the right side of the Sefirot tree, representing mercy, but now the Temples are destroyed, and the letters are separated, and the Temple is destroyed and the left is strengthened.

אָמְנָם עֲדַיִין צָרִיךְ עִיּוּן מָה שֶׁסְיֵּים הַמִּדְרָשׁ בָּנֵי הֵיכָן הֵם בְּאוֹתָהּ שָׁעָה שָׁאֹג יַשְׁבְּג עַל־נָנֵהוּ, דְּמַהוּ בְּאוֹתָהּ שָׁעָה, וַהָּלֹא כְּשֶׁאָמֵר מִתְּחַלָּה אַיֵּה מָעוֹן אָרָיוֹת, כְּבָר שָׁלְטָה הַשְּׁמֹאֹל וּכְבָר נָחֲרֵב הַבַּיִת וּכְבָר גָּלוּ יִשְׂרָאֵל. וּמָה צָרִיךְ לִשְׁאוֹל הֵיכָן הֵם בָּנַי, וּמִלְשׁוֹן שָׁאֵלֵה זוֹ נִרְאָה שֵׁבָּאוֹתַה שֲעַה דַּוְקָא שֵׁאֹג יִשְׁאֵג וְכוּ.'

Actually, still needing investigation is how the Midrash concludes: "My sons—where are they? At the same hour, 'He roars aloud over His [earthly] abode' " (Jer. 25:30). For what is this "at the same hour," since He first said, "Where is the den of the lions?"—the left side of the Sefirot tree, representing strict judgment, had already ruled and had already destroyed the Temple and had already exiled Israel! What need was there to ask, "Where are my sons?" And from the language of this question, it appears that it was especially at the same hour that, "He roars aloud."

ְוִצֵשׁ לוֹמֵר שֶׁכָּתַב הָרֶב גַּאלַנִטִי עַל כָּסוּק חָשֵׁב ה' לְהַשְּׁחִית, שֶׁבִּמְקוֹם הַמַּחְשֶׁבָה הָעֶלְיוֹנָה עָלְתָה לְהַשְׁחִית חוֹמֵת בַּת־צִּיוֹן, אָמְנָם לֶהֵיוֹתוֹ רַחֲמִים פְּשׁוּטִים, אָב הָרַחָמָן הָסְכִּים לֹסְתּוֹר עַל מְנַת לְבָנוֹת, וּמָה עָשֶׂה נָטָה קָו וּמְדֵד אֹרֶךְ וְרֹחַב מְקוֹם הַהַשְׁחָתָה כְּדֵי לִחֲזוֹר וְלַחֲדָשָׁה. וְזֶה הַקּו נִקְרָא קֵו הַמִּדָּה וְזֶהוּ עֵת לִבְרוֹס וְעֵת לְבָנוֹת, שֶׁהָעֵת שֶׁנֶהֱרַס, אוֹתוֹ הָעֵת הָיָה, עֵת לְבְנוֹת.

It needs to be said that Rabbi Galante¹² wrote on the verse, "The L-rd resolved to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion; He measured with a line, and didn't refrain from bringing destruction" (Lam. 2:8), that in the place of the supernal thought there arose the idea "to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion." In truth, in order to have simple mercy, the Merciful Father agreed to "dismantle in order to rebuild" (Shabbat 31b), and what He did was: "He measured with a line" and He measured the length and width of the place of destruction, in order to return and to renew it. This line is called the "measuring line" (Jer. 31:39), and this is "a time to destroy and a time to build up," for the time that it was destroyed was the same time as the time to build up.

[Rabbi Galante] also wrote on the verse, "Those whom I bore and reared, My foe has consumed" (Lam. 2:22), that: "When wicked ones proliferate in the world, a great abyss is opened, from which exits a number of angels of destruction. When the souls were descending from above towards the opening of 'the brickwork of sapphire' (Ex. 24:10), there by the opening 'sin crouches' (Gen. 4:7), to oppress them by the secret of 'the tears of the oppressed' (Eccl. 4:1)"¹⁴—and that is "those whom I bore" (Lam. 2:22), by My right hand, for they are the souls of the righteous, who are called His handiwork. If they had descended to the ground, they would have qualified to be completely righteous; but they were stolen by the hand of the known enemy, i.e., sin. 16

It also says in the Midrash Lam. Rabbah 1:40 on the verse, "When the L-rd afflicted (הוֹנָה) (hoga) me on His day of wrath" (Lam. 1:12), "Rav Acha says that the wrath of the Holy One, Blessed be He, [lasted only] one day; if Israel had repented, they would have been redeemed." This is the intent of the Midrash: Even though the Temple was destroyed and Israel exiled, because the left side of the Sefirot tree grew strong—namely, "Where is the den of the lions?"—there was no place to complain and to be embittered by the situation, as the

¹⁴ Kinat Setarim, page 30b. The first sentence includes three phrases that appear in the Zohar: "That when wicked ones proliferate in the world": I: 68a, II:10b, II:146a, III:75a; III:291b, III:218a; "a great abyss": II:65a, III:91b; "a number of angels of destruction": I:62b, I:243b, III:52b, III:62b, III:181a, III:291b.

¹⁵ Isaiah 60:21, "And your people, all of them righteous, shall possess the land for all time; they are the shoot that I planted, my handiwork in which I glory."

¹⁶ This is partly a paraphrase of Rabbi Galante's Kinat Setarim, page 31a. Rabbi Natan Bonn, Shichechat Leket (Prague 1652), in the section Isha v'chol Inyanei Peria u'Revia (Woman and all Matters of Being Fruitful and Multiplying) mentions souls stolen by the hand of the klipa.

measuring line to measure the length and width of the destruction of Zion was already turning aside and it was time to build, and if Israel had repented they would have been redeemed the next day. Actually, when He saw that Israel did not repent, then He said, "Where are my sons?", for they did not awaken mercy. Alternatively, "Where are my sons?"—namely, the souls of the righteous who come to the world are called "sons"—where are they? They will be removed from the klipah, and therefore at precisely the same hour, "He roars aloud," and it's not so much at the hour of the destruction of the Temple.

It should also be said in another matter, that it is brought in the Zohar in parshat Beshalach (Ex. 13:17–17:16):

Rabbi Yehuda said, the Holy One, Blessed be He, gave an elevated soul¹⁷ to man, and included within it is wisdom and discernment in order to know everything. From where did [the] Holy One, Blessed be He, give it to him? Rabbi Yitzchak says, 'From the place from which the other holy souls come. Rabbi Yehuda says, "From here, for it is written, 'Let the earth bring forth a living soul' (Gen. 1:24). What is this "earth"? From the same place where the Temple was."

- Zohar II:55a

Even for Jewish kings, the Holy One, Blessed be He, gives them a soul from an elevated place, for thus it is written, "Is the heart of kings unfathomable?" (Prov. 25:3). Even for the kings of the nations of the world, i.e., non-Jewish kings, see the Zohar (I:194b) in parshat Miketz (Gen. 41:1–44:17), that the dreams of a king are not like the dreams of others, for even the kings of the nations ascend to a higher level than an ordinary person of the world, and they are informed of matters of truth. ¹⁸

¹⁷ The first edition reads אוכמתא (wisdom) and was likely a publisher's error for נָשֶׁמֶתָא (soul).

¹⁸ This appears to be a paraphrase of Zohar I:194b: "Rabbi Yitzchak said, 'Although we have learned that a man is shown only what is appropriate to his grade, this is not true for kings. They are shown supernal things that are different from those that other people are shown. Because a king is of a superior grade than other men, that which he is shown is of a higher grade than the rest, as it is written, "what the L-rd is about to do, He has declared to Pharaoh" (Gen. 41:25). But to other men, the Holy One, Blessed be He, does not reveal His works. He reveals them only to the prophets, the pious, and the wise men of the ages, as has already been explained.' "

אָם כֵּן לְדָוִד וּלְזָרְעוֹ שֶׁנִּיתֵּן לָהֶם הַמַּלְכוּת מִפִּי הקב"ה בְּוַדָּאי דְּיַהְבוּ לֵיה נָמֵי נֶפֶשׁ יְתֵירָה מֵאָתַר עִלּיָאָה, וְכֵן לְנְבוּכִדְנֶצֵּר נָמֵי. מָם לְּדָוֹד וּלְזָרְעוֹ שֻׁנִּיתֵּן לָהֶם הַמַּלְכוּת מִפִּי הקב"ה בְּחַזְקָה אֵינָם בִּכְלָל זָה, וְלָכֵן הָם נִקְרְאוּ אַרְיֵה שָׁאַף לָאַרְיֵה יֵשׁ לוֹ כֹּס מְּה שָׁאֵין כֵּן לִשְׁאָר מְלָכִין דְעַלְמָא שֶׁנַעְשִׁים מְלָכִים בְּחָזְקָה אֵינָם בּּכִית דָּוֹד וְנָחֲרֵב עַל יְדֵי נְבוּכִדְנָצֵר, עַל דְּרֶךְ מִינִיה וּבִיה וּמָיִה וּבִיה עָל יְדִי זְרַע בֵּית דָּוֹד וְנָחֲרֵב עַל יְדֵי נְבוּכִּדְנָצֵר, עַל דְּרֶךְ מִינִיה וּבִיה אָבָּא לִיזִיל בֵּיה נַרְגַּא.

If so, then David and his descendants, who were given the kingship from the mouth of the Holy One, Blessed be He, certainly [David] also received an extra soul from a supernal place, and similarly Nebuchadnezzar, as a descendant of David. That is something not true for the remaining kings of the world, who became kings by force; they are not included in this rule, and therefore they are called "a lion," for even a lion has power and dominion that is a microcosm of that of the Almighty Above. Indeed, the Temple was built by an offspring of the House of David and destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar, in the manner of the axiom, "from the very forest itself comes the handle of the ax that will destroy it" (Sanhedrin 39b).

וְזֶהוּ דְּאָמְרִינַן בְּרֵישׁ בַּתְרָא שָׁאנֵי בֵּית הַמִּקְדָּשׁ דְּלָא סַגִּי דְּלָאו מַלְכָּא, וּפֵירֵשׁ שָׁם מַהַרְשִׁ"א שֶׁלֹא הָיָה יָכוֹל לַהַבָּנוֹת אֶלָּא עַל יְדֵי מֶלֶךְ. וְלָכֵן נִצְטַוּוּ יִשְׂרָאֵל בִּכְנִיסָתָם לָאָרֶץ לְהַעֲמִיד לָהֶם מֶלֶךְ וְאַחֵּר כָּךְ לִבְנוֹת בֵּית הַמִּקְדָּשׁ, וְכַן בְּגִיטִין אַמְרֵינָן דְּאִי לָאו מַלְכָּא אַתָּ, לָא אִיתִמָסִר יִרוּשַׁלִיִם בְּיַדָּדָּ.

This is what's written at the beginning of tractate Bava Batra (4a), that "the Temple is different, it doesn't thrive without a king," and the Maharsha¹⁹ explained there that it's not possible to build [the Temple] without the hands of a king. Therefore, Israel was commanded upon their entry to the Land of Israel to install a king for themselves and afterward to build the Temple, and thus in tractate Gittin (56b) it is said, "If you were not a king, Jerusalem would not have been delivered to your hand."

וּלְפִי דֶּרֶדְ זֶה נָבִין הַפְּּסוּקִים דֹּב אֹרֵב הוּא לִי, הָיוּ אוֹרְבִים לִי מַלְכֵי פָּרַס שֶׁרָצוּ לְבַטֵּל בֵּית הַמִּקְדָּשׁ וְלֹא יָכְלוּ, וְהָיָה לְבַד אוֹרֵב, אָמְנָם אַרְיֵה בַּמְסְתָּרִים. וּכְתִיב אַרְיֵה וְקָרֵינֵן אֲרִי. וְכָתַב בַּעַל עֲשֶׁרָה מֵאֲמֶרוֹת בַּדַּף הַנַּ"ל שֶׁאָרִי וְאַרְיֵה הָם כְּמוֹ נַעַר וְנַעֲרָה. וִלָּכֵן אָמֵר אַרִיֵה שֶׁהוּא רַחַמִּים נַהָפֵּך לָאֲרִי שֶׁהוּא לִשׁוֹן דִּין.

In this manner, we will understand the verses, "He is a lurking bear to me, a lion in hiding" (Lam. 3:10), they were lurking in ambush for me, those kings of Persia who wanted to cancel the Temple but weren't able to, and he [i.e., Nebuchadnezzar] alone was lurking, indeed a lion in hiding. [The word "lion"] in Lam. 3:10 is written "אָרי," which is usually pronounced "aryeh," but in this verse it is pronounced "ari." Minchat Shai²⁰ says that aryeh is written as a hint to Nebuchadnezzar, as it says, "The lion has come up from his thicket" (Jer. 4:7). Why then is it pronounced differently? The author of Asara Ma'amarot writes at the page mentioned above (Em Kol Chai, section 2, page 57b, siman 24), that the words for lion, ari (אַרִי) and aryeh (אַרְיֵה) are related to each other like the words "young man" and "young woman" are related, i.e., ari representing masculine traits and aryeh representing feminine traits. Therefore [Scripture] says aryeh, a word which is representative of mercy, but it is reversed in pronouncing it to ari, which is language for strict judgment.

¹⁹ Rabbi Shmuel Eliezer Eidels (1555–1631), Polish rabbi famous for his Talmud commentaries, Chiddushei Halachot and Chiddushei Agadot.

²⁰ Yedidyah Solomon ben Abraham Nortzi (1560–1626), born in Mantua, and from the early 1600s served as corabbi of the city. Author of Minchat Shai, a critical and Masoretic commentary on the Bible.

בַּמָסְתָּרִים, מִשׁוּם שֶׁיֵּשׁ בְּזֶה סוֹד כְּדְכָתִב הָרֵב הַנַּ"ל שָׁם, שֶׁלָמָה לֹא הֵמִית דָּוִד לָאֲרִי, כְּדֵי שֶׁיֶחֲרֵב הַבַּיִת וְיִשְׁפּוֹף הקב"ה חֲמָתוֹ עַל עֵצִים וַאֲבָנִים וְלֹא יַכְרִית חֶס וְשָׁלוֹם זָרַע יִשְׂרָאֵל מִן הָעוֹלֶם, וְזֶהוּ בַּמְסְתָּרִים בִּשְׁבִיל סוֹד זֶה.

Scripture says, "In hiding," because within this there is an esoteric secret, as is written by the rabbi mentioned above there, i.e., the Rema M'Pano, that: Why didn't David kill the lion? In order that [Nebuchadnezzar] would destroy the Temple, and the Holy One, Blessed be He, would pour out His wrath on wood and stones, and not cut down the seed of Israel from the world, G-d forbid. This is why it says, "in hiding," because of this esoteric secret.

אַחַר כָּךְ דְּרָכִי סוֹרֵר, אַף עַל פִּי שֶׁהַיִינוּ חַיָּיבִים מִיתָה כְּבֵן סוֹרֵר וּמוֹרֶה, מִכֶּל מָקוֹם בְּחַסְדוֹ הַגָּדוֹל וַיְפַשְּׁחַנִּי שַׂמֵנִי שׁמֵם וְלֹא הַרִיתַנִי. אֶלָּא דָּרַךְ קַשְׁתוֹ וַיַּצִּיבֵנִי כַּמַטָּרָא לַחֵץ, כִּדְאָמְרִינֵן בִּפְּתִיחָתָא דְּאֵיכָה רַבָּתִי עַל פָּסוּק וּזְכֹר אֶת־בּוֹרְאֶיךְ בִּימֵי בְּתִינִי אֶלָּא דָרָן יְנִילְי, הָתְחִיל קוֹסֵם קְסָמִים מְקַלְקֵל בַּחִיצִים לִשְׁמָה שֶׁל רוֹמִי וְלֹא עַלְתָה, לִשְׁמָה שֶׁל בִּירוּשָׁלָם עָלְתָה וְכוּ' ועיי"ש. וְכֵן בָּפֵרֵק ה' דְּגִיטִין אָמְרִינֵן שַׁדָּא גִּירָא לְמִזְרָח, אָתָא נַפַל בִּירוּשַׁלִיִם, לְמַעְרַב, אָתַא נַפַל לִירוּשָׁלִיִם וְכוּ.'

Afterward, "He has forced me off my way" (Lam. 3:11). Even though we were deserving of death as a "wayward and defiant son" (Deut. 21:18), yet with His great kindness, "He tore me to pieces and left me desolate" (Lam. 3:11) instead of destroying me. Rather, "He has bent His bow and made me the target of His arrows" (Lam. 3:12). As it says in the Introduction to Lamentations Rabbah on the verse, "Remember your Creator in the days of your youth" (Eccl. 12:1):

Nebuchadnezzar was nervous and wanted to know if he was destined to attack Jerusalem or not. He called in sorcerers and diviners to reveal the future. "The diviner began by shooting arrows' [upward, to see whether the wind blew them right or left]. [He asked if his target] was destined to be Rome, but [the arrow] didn't rise [to indicate that should be his target]. [He asked if his target] was destined to be Alexandria, but [the arrow] didn't rise [to indicate that should be his target]. [He asked if his target] was destined to be Jerusalem, and [the arrow] rose [toward the right, indicating that he should attack Jerusalem]."

- Lam. Rabbah, Introduction (para. 23)

Similarly, in the fifth chapter of tractate Gittin (56a), it says: "The Roman authorities then sent Nero Caesar against the Jews. When he came to Jerusalem, he wished to test his fate. He shot an arrow to the east and the arrow came and fell towards Jerusalem. He then shot another arrow to the west and it also fell towards Jerusalem. He shot an arrow in all four directions of the heavens, and each time the arrow fell towards Jerusalem."
