 Chapter III – Mishnah 5

ַרַבִּי חֲנִינָא כֶן חֲכִינַאי אוֹמֵר, הַנֵּיעוֹר בַּלִיְלָה, וְהַמְהַלֵּךְ בַּדֶּרֶךְ יְחִידִי, וְהַמְפַנֶּה לִבּוֹ לְבַטָּלָה, הֲרֵי זֶה מִתְחַיֵּיב בְּנַפְשׁוֹ.

Rabbi Chananiah ben Chachinai said: One who wakes up at night, or walks on the way alone and turns his heart to idle matters, behold, this one is mortally guilty.

לא כָּל הָאָדָם, וְלא כָּל הַשָּׁעוֹת, וְלא כָּל הַמְּקוֹמוֹת שָׁוִין, וְשׁוֹמֵר נָפְשׁוּ יִרְחַק מֵהֶם.

"Not every person, nor every place, nor every hour is identical,"¹ and "one who distances himself from them guards his soul."² I.e., there are some individuals who are dangerous, and some places and times of the day that are known to have increased danger. One should take care to avoid such dangers, to the extent possible.

בִּבְרָכוֹת דַּף ג' אָמְרינַן, מִפְנֵי שְׁלוֹשֶׁה דְבָרים אֵין נְכְנָסין לְחַרְבָּה וְכוּ'. וְקָאָמַר הָתָם, דַאֲפִילוּ בִּתְרֵי חָיִישִׁינַן לְמזִיקִים, הוֹאִיל שְׁבַּחַרְבָּה הוּא מְקוֹמָן. וּבַשֶּׁדֶה וּבַדֶּרֶךּ, בְּחַד חָיִישִׁינַן. וְכַן בַּלַיְלָה שֶׁהוּא עֵת שְׁליטָתָם, יֵשׁ סַכָּנָה מֵהֶם, וְאָז הַתּוֹרָה בְּעִיְדָנא דְּלֹא[] עָסיק בָּה, אֵינָה מְגַנָּה עַל הָאָדָם. וְכֵן הוּא בְּכָל מְקוֹם סַכָּנָה, וְזֶה פָּשׁוּט.

In tractate Berachot, page 3a, it is said, "The Sages taught, for three reasons one may not enter a ruin: Because of suspicion [of prostitution], because [the ruin is liable to] collapse, [and] because of demons." As it says there, even with two people, they should be concerned about demons, and in a field and on the way, one person alone should be concerned about encountering demons.³ Similarly, at nighttime, which is the time of [the demons'] rule, there is a danger from them, and thus the Torah, when one is not⁴ engaged in it, does not protect one from misfortune.⁵ This is the case in every place of danger, and this is obvious.

² Prov. 22:5, "Thorns and snares are in the path of the crooked; he who values his life will keep far from them."

³ Berachot 3b: "[Generally speaking, two individuals need not be concerned about demons; but, if they are] in their place [i.e., a place known to be haunted by demons], we are concerned [about demons even with two people]. And if you wish, say [instead]: Actually, [this refers] to [the case of] an individual [entering] a new ruin located in a field."

וּמִכּּל מְקוֹם, כָּל עֵת שֶׁהָאָדָם יָשׁ[וּ], תּוֹרָתוֹ מְשַׁמַּרְתּוֹ, לְפִי שֶׁאִי אֶפְשָׁר בְּלָאו הָכִי, שֶׁהֲרֵי הַשֵּׁינָה צְרִיכָה אֶל הָאָדָם, וְאִי אֶפְשָׁר לוֹ מִבּלְעָדָה, וְהוּא כְּמוֹ אוֹנֶס וְהָכְרֵם. וּמִכּּל שֶׁכֵּן, לְמאן דְּאָמַר בְּכֶרָק ו' דְעַרוּבִין, דְלָא אִיבְרֵי לֵילְיָא אֶלָּא לְשִׁינְתָּא. וּמַעִיקֶרָא לַב בַּית דִין שֶׁל מַעְלָה הָכִי אַתְנוּ, דְהֵיכָא דְּלֹא אֶפְשָׁר, הַתּוֹרָה תִּהְיֶה מִגֶּנֶת עַל הָאָדָם.

In any case, as long as the man is asleep, his Torah protects him, for it is impossible otherwise, for the sleep is necessary for the man, and it's impossible for him to exist without it, and in this way, he is like someone who is being forced and compelled. For this reason, it says in the sixth chapter of tractate Eruvin (65a), quoting Rav Yehuda, "Night was created only for sleep." Initially, the thinking of the Heavenly court is thus: that where it is not possible for a person to distance himself from danger, the Torah shields the person.

כּדְאָמְרינַן בְּקִידּוּשִׁין דַּף נ"ה, בְּהַמָה שֶׁנִּמְצֵאת וְכוּ', זְכָרִים, עוֹלוֹת. נְקֵבוֹת, זְבְחֵי שְׁלָמִים. חֲנִינָא בן חֲכִינַאי אוֹמֵר, עֵז בַּת שְׁנָתָה, כְחַטָּאת, כּוֹנְסָה לְכִיפָּה וְהִיא מֵתָה מֵאֵלֶיהָ. וְהַקְשׁוּ בַּתּוֹסָפּוֹת, לְעֵיל דְאָמְרינַן זְכָרִים עוֹלוֹת, לֵיחוּשׁ דִילְמָא שְׁעִיבִי הָרְגָלים וְרָאשִׁי חֹדֶשׁ, שֶׁהֵם חָטָאת צָבּוּר וְהֵם זְכָרִים וְכוּ'. וְיֵשׁ לוֹמֵר, דַלָהָא לֵיכָּא לֵמִיחַשׁ, דְּלֵב בֵּית דִין מַתְנָה עֵּלֵיהֶם. עכ"ל.

But what about an individual who finds himself waking up in the middle of the night, when everyone else is asleep?

As it says in tractate Kiddushin, page 55a:

We learned [in a Mishnah] there [Shekalim 20a]: [If there was] an animal [fit for the altar] that was found [straying], from Jerusalem [and as far] as Migdal Eder, and [similarly if it was found] within that distance [from Jerusalem] in any [other] direction, [it is presumed that the animal came from Jerusalem. Most of the animals in Jerusalem were designated for offerings, and presumably this one was as well]. Males [are presumed to be] burnt-offerings [as only males can be brought as burnt-offerings]. Females [are presumed to be] peace-offerings [as it is permitted to bring a female peace-offering].

It is taught [in a Baraita]: Chanina ben Chachinai says: [If one found] a goat in its first year, [it is brought] as a sin-offering. [The Gemara asks:] Can it enter your mind [that it is brought] as a sin-offering? [How can he sacrifice the animal as a sin-offering due to a mere possibility that it had been designated as a sin-offering? One cannot bring a voluntary sin-offering.] Rather, Abaye says: [He treats it] as [though it were] a sin-offering, he conveys it into a cell and it dies on its own. [Since it might be a lost sin-offering, it must be left to die.]

- Kiddushin 55a

The Tosafot question: "Above, when the Tanna says 'males [are presumed to be] burnt-offerings,' why are we not concerned that perhaps they are the goats of a Festival or a

New Month, which are males? ... We have to say that we are not concerned with that, since the court automatically stipulates about them that in the event that [the sacrifice of a Festival or a New Month] get lost, they will become unconsecrated [per Shevu'ot 11b]."

וְאָם כֵּן, בִּשְׁלָמָא בְּעֵת הַשֵּׁינָה שֶׁהוּא דָּבָר כּּוֹלֵל לְכָל הַצָּבּוּר, שֶׁכָּל בְּנֵי אָדָם יְשׁנִים בַּלִיְלָה, אָתֵי שֵׁפִּיר לוֹמר שֶׁלֵב בֵּית דִין שָׁל מַעְלָה מַתְנָה שֶׁהּוֹרָה תִּשְׁמוֹר הָאָדָם בָּאוֹתוֹ הָעַת, דּוּמְיָא לְמַאי דְּאָמְרינֵן הָתָם, שֶׁהקֶרְבָנוֹת צַבּוּר לִב בִּית דִין מַתְנָה. אַבָל כְּשֶׁנֵיעוֹר בַּלִיְלָה, שֶׁהוּא דָּבָר פְּרָטִי ליחִידִים, אָז אֵין לֵב בֵּית דִין שֶׁל מַעְלָה מַתְנָה, דוּמְיָא כְמָרָבנוֹת צַבּוּר לָב בִּית דִין מַתְנָה. אַבָל לא יַחֲשׁוֹב בַּלִילָה, שֶׁהוּא דָּבָר פְּרָטִי ליחִידִים, אָז אֵין לֵב בֵּית דִין שֶׁל מַעְלָה מַתְנָה, דוּמְיָזָה, כְּקַרְבָנוֹת יָחִיד. וּמִשׁוּם הָכִי, אָם לא יַחֲשׁוֹב בְּדַבְרֵי תּוֹרָה אֶלָּא יְפַנֶּה לִבּוֹ לְבַטָּלָה, יִהְיֶה מִחְחַיֵּיב בְּנַפְשׁוֹ. וּבְהַדָּ דְהָכָא הַנֵּיעוֹר בַּלִיְלָה, אָזֵיל רַבִּי חַנִינָא לְשִׁיטְתֵיה לָא יַחֲשׁוֹב בְּדְבְרֵי תּוֹרָה אֶלָּא יְפַנֶּה לְבוֹ לְבַטֶּלָה, יִהְיָה מִחְחַיֵּיב בְּנַפְשׁוֹ.

If so, it's granted at the time of sleep—which includes the entire community, for all people sleep at night—it is fine to say that the Heavenly court stipulates about them that the Torah will guard the man at that time. This is similar to what is said there, by the Tosafot on Kiddushin 55a, that the court stipulates about the sacrifices of the community. But when awakened at night, which happens privately to individuals, then the mind of the Heavenly court does not stipulate, similar to the sacrifices of an individual.⁶ Because of this, if he won't think about matters of Torah, but rather turns his heart to idleness, he is mortally guilty, i.e. putting his life at risk. Regarding awakening at night, Rabbi Chanina follows the position there in tractate Kiddushin, and even if [the one awakening at night] doesn't know to learn in the actual words of Torah, he should think about the concepts in his mind, as discussed below in the adjoining paragraphs.

ַןְהַמְּהַלֵּהְ בַּדֶּרֶהְ יְחִידִי. יָדוּעַ, שֶׁכָּל הַדְּרָכִים, בְּחָזְקַת סַכָּנָה. וּבְפָרֶק ב' דְּשׁבָּת נַמִי אָמְרינַן, וְגַבְרֵי הֵיכָא מִבַּדְקִי, כְּעֵין גָּשֶׁר. וּפַּרֵשׁ רַשִׁ"י, כְּגוֹן קיר נָטוּי, הַיּוֹצֵא לדֶרֶהְ. עכ"ל. וְאִם אִיתָא, שֶׁלָּצַאת לדֶּרֶהְ הוּא סַכָּנָה, לָמָה לֹא אָסָרוּהוּ חַכָמִים, כְּמוֹ שָׁאָסְרוּ קיר נָטוּי וְכָל מִילֵי דְּסַכְּנָה, וְאָמְרוּ שֶׁהָעוֹשָׁה אוֹתָם, דָמוֹ בְּרֹאשׁוֹ. וְעוֹד, דְהָא קַיְימָא לָן אַל יַעֲמוֹד אָדָם בִּמְקוֹם סַכָּנָה, שֶׁאָסְרוּ קיר נָטוּי וְכָל מִילֵי דְּסַכְּנָה, וְאָמְרוּ שֶׁהָעוֹשָׁה אוֹתָם, דָמוֹ בְּרֹאשׁוֹ. וְעוֹד, דְהָא

"Or [one who] walks on the way alone." It is known that all roads are presumed to be dangerous.⁷ In the second chapter of tractate Shabbat (32a), it is also said, "And where are men examined? Reish Lakish said: When they are crossing a bridge. [The Gemara wonders: Only when they are crossing] a bridge and at no other [time]? [Rather,] say: [Anything] like a bridge." Rashi explained there, "Like a leaning wall, is one who sets out on a journey." If it is brought that to set out on a journey is dangerous, why didn't the sages forbid this, as they forbade sitting next to a leaning wall⁸ and all dangerous matters. They said that one who does these

⁷ Yerushalmi Berachot 4:4, "Rabbi Shimon bar Abba in the name of Rabbi Chanina: Any travel is presumed to be dangerous."

⁸ Rosh Hashana 16b: "And Rabbi Yitzchak said: Three matters evoke a person's sins, and they are: [Endangering oneself by sitting next to] an inclined wall [that is in danger of collapse]; expecting prayer [to be accepted, as that things, his blood is on his head.⁹ Further, as we maintain, "Rabbai Yannai . . . said: A person should never stand in a place of danger, saying that the [Heavenly messengers] will perform a miracle for him, lest they do not perform a miracle for him."¹⁰ Also, how would men go out on the road to engage in commerce or some other activity, if the rabbis were to forbid everything that was dangerous?

וְצָרִיּהְ לוֹמַר, דְהוֹאִיל וְאִי אֶפְשָׁר לְבְנֵי אָדָם שֶׁלֹא לְצֵאת לַדֶּרֶהְ, מֵעִיקֶרָא כָּהְ תִּיקְנוּ שֶׁיֵלְכוּ שְׁנֵיִם בַּדֶּרֶהּ, דְמוּלָא דְבֵי תְּרֵי, עָדִיף. וְאִי לֵיכָּא שְׁנַיִם, יַעֲסוֹק בַּתּוֹרָה, שֶׁאָז תּוֹרָתוֹ מְשׁמַרְתּוֹ. אֲבָל אָם לֹא יַעֲסוֹק בָּה, לֹא תָּגֵין, לְפִי שֶׁהַמָּקוֹם מְקוֹם סִכָּנָה. וְזֶהוּ דְאָמְרינו בְּפֶרֶק ה' דְּעֵירוּבִין, הַמְּהַלֵּה בַּדֶּרֶה וְאֵין לוֹ לְנָיָה, יַעֲסוֹק בַּתּוֹרָה.

It needs to be said, that since it's impossible for people to never set out on a journey, from the outset [the rabbis] established that two should go out together on a journey, for "the luck of two people is better."¹¹ If there are not two, [the one setting out] should engage in Torah, for then his Torah will protect him. But if he does not engage in [Torah], it will not protect him, for the place is a place of danger. This is what is said in the fifth chapter of tractate Eruvin (54b), "Rabbi Yehoshua ben Levi says: One who walks along the way without a companion should occupy himself with [words of] Torah."¹²

וּמִי שָׁאִינוֹ יוֹדַעַ לְלְמוֹד, וְהוּא מוּכְרָח מַחַמַת עֲסָקֵיו לָצַאת לַדֶּרָף יְחִידִי, מַה תַּקָנָה יֵשׁ לוֹ. מִשׁוּם הָכִי קָתָנֵי, וְהַמְּהַלֵּף בַּדֶּרָף יִחִידִי וּמְפּנֶה לְבּוֹ לְבַטָּלָה, הֲרֵי זֶה מְתַחַיֵּיב בְּנַפְשׁוֹ, כְּלוֹמר, דַוְקָא לְפִי שֶׁמְפּנֶה לִבּוֹ לְבַטָּלָה, הוּא מְתְחַיֵּיב בְּנַפְשׁוֹ. הָא אָם חוֹשֵׁב בְּאֵיזֶה דְבַר מִצְוָה, יִהְיֶה נִיצוּל, הוֹאִיל שֶׁהוּא מוּכְרָח וְאָנוּס לָצַאת לַדֶּרָף יְחִידִי, שֶׁאֵינוֹ מוֹצֵא מִי שֶׁיֵלָף עַמּוֹ, וְגַם אֵינוֹ חוֹשֵׁב בְּאֵיזֶה דְבַר מִצְוָה, יִהְיֶה נִיצוּל, הוֹאִיל שֶׁהוּא מוּכְרָח וְאָנוּס לָצַאת לַדֶּרָף יְחִידִי, שָׁאֵינוֹ מוֹצֵא מִי שֶׁיֵלָף עַמּוֹ, וְגַם אֵינוֹ מּלְמִיד חָכָם לְלְמוֹד בְּמָחְשֵׁרָתוֹ. דְּאַף עַל זֶה אָמְרִינַן, שָׁבִּית דִין שָׁל מִעְלָה הָכִי אַתְנוּ, נִיצוּל אָם תִּהָיָה לוֹ מַחְשָׁבָה מּלְמִיד חָכָם לְלְמוֹד בְּמַחְשׁבִיתוֹ. דְּאַף עַל זֶה אָמְרִינַן, שֶׁבִּית דִין שֶׁל מִעְלָה הָכִי אַתְנוּ, שִיהָי, או לִיהָנוֹת הַלָּמִיד מוֹלְמִיד חָכָם לְלְמוֹד בְּמַחְשׁבְתוֹ. דְּאַף עַל זֶה אָמְרִינַן, שְׁבָּעוֹ דָימוּלָה הָכִי אַתְנוּ, מַחְשָּרָה סוֹנִין, בָּאַרָה גָידָה, מָיָה מָה הַכָּקָנוּ הַיָּזי מָשְׁרָם אָרָי עָתוּים לָמוֹדָה, אוֹין בָּרָרָם מָתוּיָרָ

One who does not know how to learn Torah, and is compelled because of his business to set out on the road alone, what remedy does he have? Because of this, the Mishnah is teaching, "one who walks on the way alone and turns his heart to idle matters, behold, this one is mortally guilty," as if to say, specifically because he turns his heart to idle matters, he is mortally guilty. But if he thinks on any matter regarding a mitzvah, he will be saved, since he is compelled and forced to go out on the road alone, for he has not found someone who will go with him, and he is not a Torah scholar to learn by heart. Despite this, it is said, that the thinking of the Heavenly court is thus, that he will be saved if he has good intentions,¹³ leads to an assessment of one's status and merit]; and passing a case against another [to Heaven, i.e., asking G-d to judge another person], for Rabbi Avin said: Anyone who passes a case against another [to G-d] is punished first."

such as thinking to fix a time to learn Torah, or to go sometime to a study hall of a particular scholar, or to benefit Torah scholars from his property.¹⁴ As it is written, "She is a tree of life to those who grasp her,"¹⁵ for many ignorant people can be found, and the Torah provides protection even for the ignorant, if they have good intentions.

This is the meaning of the Scripture, "In your [own self-directed] walking [בְּהַתְּהַלֶּכְה] [be 'hit 'halechecha], it will lead you" (Prov. 6:22). The question is, why does it use the unusual reflexive grammar? Why doesn't it say "in your walking" [Endited] [be 'hiluchecha] with the simpler Hebrew grammar? Rather, it specifically says "in your [own self-directed] walking" with the reflexive grammar, meaning "in your walking with thinking of the Torah." That is, if you are walking with [the Torah], then "it will lead you." When you sleep, it will also guard you, and this is the meaning of the continuation of the verse, "when you lie down it will watch over you." Indeed, the conclusion of the verse, "and when you are awake it will talk with you" is difficult, that is, in writing Proverbs, [King Solomon] should have said "you will talk with her." Rather, it is coming to teach us, that if you don't know how to learn Torah by yourself, when you wake up from your sleep, if you think good thoughts and do not turn your heart to idleness, [the Torah] will talk to you, and that is the meaning of "it will talk with you," and not as we said, "you will talk with her."
